(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—Concluding his conferences with political leaders and members of the legislature here, Governor-elect Gifford Pinchot today announced the appointment of James F. Malone, of Pittsburgh, as Secretary of Property and Supplies in the Pinchot administration.

Pinchot Silent
Harrisburg, Jan. 8.—Silent as to the outcome of conferences with political leaders, members of the legislature and state officials, Governor-elect Gifford Pinchot today continued his conferences here, with indications pointing toward additional announcements of the personnel of his cabinet.

The Governor-elect early today tentatively decided to return to his home at Milford sometime this afternoon or evening, there to put the finishing touches on his inaugural address.

Among those who met with the Governor-elect yesterday and last night were Dr. Clyde L. King, who will be Secretary of Revenue in the coming administration and Samuel L. Lewis, who will be Secretary of Highways under Pinchot. Dr. King, it was reported, spent considerable time discussing the budget for the coming biennium and arrangements for a meeting of the Pinchot unemployment committee at Philadelphia tomorrow.

The aviator and her navigator, who flew the distance from Norfolk to Bermuda in 6 hours and 49 minutes despite contrary winds that at times mounted to a gale, expected to start for the Azores, an unbroken water hop of 2,042 miles, around 5 p. m. today, depending on weather conditions.

Their Bellanca machine will be fueled with 400 gallons of gasoline, more than enough to span the distance to Horta in the Azores. From that tiny dot in the vast Atlantic the fliers planned to hop off on the final leg of 1,500 miles to the River Seine in Paris.

Rev. Blews Has Been Methodist Minister For Sixty-Six Years In District

Sixty years ago, in a little parsonage in Duncannon, Pa., a Methodist minister and a young English girl were united in marriage. The young couple came to New Castle not long after that and together they embarked on a long and enthusiastic religious career.

Sixty years ago—but only yesterday to Rev. and Mrs. Edward Blews, who are today quietly observing the anniversary at their home, 1203 DuShane street. As they look back on the years, see the work that was done and the results accomplished, they are happy on this day—just as they were on January 8, 1871.

Preaches Over 55 Years.
After serving in the Methodist and Free Methodist ministry for over 55 years, Rev. Blews retired from active service about 10 years ago. He has been a minister for 66 years, having started when but 15 years of age. He is a pioneer preacher of the gospel. (Continued On Page Two)

ROME, Jan. 8.—The Italian Government revealed today that five aviators were killed and three seriously injured in the crash of two of the twelve trans-Atlantic seaplanes which started from Bolama in Portuguese Guinea for South America Tuesday, under command of General Italo Balbo.

The official report on the tragedy, of which there had been rumors since yesterday, was given out 48 hours after the accidents in order to soften the blow to the Italian people, who gave themselves over to unbounded rejoicing when ten of the machines spanned the hazardous 1,860 miles to Natal, Brazil, in 17 hours and 15 minutes.

According to the government's account of the tragedy, twelve double-pontoon seaplanes lined up in four squadrons of three machines each for their start under a full moon, in 17 hours and 15 minutes.

Alleged Niles Bootlegger Gets Term In Prison

Judge Ignores Recommendation From County Prosecutor For Suspended Sentence

(International News Service)
WARREN, O., Jan. 8.—Ignoring the recommendation of the county prosecutor for a paroled or a suspended sentence, Judge W. M. Carter today had passed sentence on Marty Flask, 29-year-old Niles admitted bootlegger and confessed briber of police. Flask was given a term of from one to 10 years in the Ohio penitentiary.

Prosecutor G. H. Birrell, previous to the court's sentence, talked for 30 minutes on the agreements which he and defense attorneys had made. He said he was asked to recommend a paroled or suspended sentence for Flask if Edward Kennedy, former Niles police lieutenant, were acquitted of bribery. The Kennedy case was pending while defense attorneys made several propositions to him, Birrell explained. Kennedy was acquitted last week.

The decision of the court came as a climax to the explanation of the prosecutor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A divided report with the majority in agreement only upon the less controversial aspects of prohibition—this is the package which the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission will deposit on President Hoover's door-step in the near future, according to all indications today.

The prohibition phase of the commission's work is about completed after 19 months of laborious effort and much battling behind closed doors. But completion in this case does not necessarily mean agreement nor unity. It means, instead, that the commissioners have gone so far and do not believe they can go any further toward reconciliation of divergent views.

Rumor Governor Fisher May Head Westminster

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 8.—In less than two weeks, John S. Fisher, governor of the commonwealth will lay down the reins of government after four years service, and return to private life. Many rumors have been in circulation as to what he will do, but the latest one has him mentioned in connection with the presidency of Westminster college in New Wilmington, Pa.

At first blush the rumor seems to be made out of whole cloth, but back of it there are a number of reasons why it is not as far fetched as it might appear. It is asserted here.

Trustee Of College.
Governor Fisher is a trustee of Westminster college and holds a Doctor of Laws degree from that school. Before he was governor he was president of the Indiana State Normal School, and is thoroughly familiar with educational problems.

Should he become president of Westminster he would be merely following the precedent of the late Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh. Following his term as governor, Mr. Brumbaugh accepted the position of president of Juniata college of Huntingdon, Pa., which place he held until his death.

At the present time no successor has been selected to take the place of President W. Charles Wallace. President Wallace will retain his post until the June commencement and his successor will probably take office then.

Assuming that the presidency of Westminster is being considered at all by Governor Fisher, he would have several months in which to take a vacation and to arrange his personal affairs before heading the college.

Widening Of Narrows Makes Steady Progress

Sheer bluffs of stone, junior palisades, rugged and steep and picturesque are feeling the impress of progress out along "The Narrows" of the Neshannock creek. Centuries old, they have overlooked the waters of the Neshannock a firm foundation for the houses on the top of the hill, and until now a barrier beyond which the narrow road could not go.

The change is being accomplished by the men who have been put to work by the city. The loose earth and shale has been stripped away and today drillers are puncturing the face of the wall with deep holes. Friday there will be some daylight fireworks and with one heavy "shot" the jagged corner of stone which juts out beyond Rural avenue will tumble down into the roadway and the creek bed as the dynamite gets in its work.

Road Widened.
The work of the gangs of men placed along the Narrows by the city is already showing results. On the Paper Mill end of the road it has been widened so that two cars can pass with ease. Stone taken out of the hillside has been piled on the river side of the road, making a protective wall, and the hillside itself sloped back to prevent slipping.

From Rural avenue out, the work is more difficult. The hill side is a small mountain of stone, a pretty bluff sandstone and the results here are slower of accomplishment. Expert blasters are at work drilling the holes and early Friday morning the sticks of dynamite will be placed. Frank Wood, who is in charge of the work expects to blow most of the stone with one huge shot.

The explosion will probably block the roadway with stone for the force of it will drop the stone in a heap it is thought. When the work is finished, motorists driving by will pass a sheer wall of stone free from overhanging outcroppings, while the roadway itself will be capable of passing two cars without difficulty.

Marriage Cannot Be Dis-

ROME, Jan. 8.—A stern warning to the Christian world to take heed of its mad pace and turn back into the paths of divine law was pronounced today by Pope Pius XI in his eagerly awaited encyclical on marriage.

The document explained with evident regret that since even among the faithful pernicious mistakes were being made and "depraved and perverted customs acquired" the Vatican deemed it necessary to raise its voice to warn its flocks away from these poisoned pastures.

Scores Divorces.
The encyclical in its entirety harks back to the fundamental marriage law elaborated forth in the encyclical of Leo XIII which refutes divorce and emphasizes that only by continence within the married state can families be limited without transgressing the divine law.

Pope Pius XI's encyclical is in three parts. The indissolubility of divine marriage is affirmed in the first part; the second deals with crimes against Christian marriages, and the third is devoted largely to a remedy of the defects as viewed by the pontiff.

Reiterating in no uncertain terms that marriage was instituted by God as indissoluble, the document issued by his holiness said:

"Christ having said 'whoever repudiates his wife and takes another commits adultery,' just so those who take a woman repudiated by her husband also commit adultery. Whoever God has united, man cannot separate. Once wedded, one remains wedded for life."

The conception that marriage can be dissolved through legal methods or otherwise was sharply opposed and denounced by the pope, who de- (Continued On Page Five)

Alexander Is Annual Host

Railroad Men Are Entertained At Home Of Retired Railroader

FORMER E. AND A. HEADS ARE HERE

Observing a yearly custom inaugurated here in 1920 when J. F. Patterson, the general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad's New York zone, was superintendent of the Erie & Ashtabula division here, Harry L. Alexander, well known retired freight agent of the local office entertained members of the Select Club, Wednesday.

Comprising the membership of the organization, which convenes but once a year, are old railroad friends of Mr. Alexander, many of them today being numbered among the high officers of the Pennsylvania system. Another, Sir Henry Thornton, is head of one of the world's largest railroads.

Meet Here Yearly

The get-together party, always staged at Mr. Alexander's Leasure avenue home, is usually a Christmas affair. However, this year's reunion was delayed until yesterday.

Membership in the organization is reserved for only the superintendents of the E. & A. division, together with others whom the group votes in. When a man becomes superintendent here, he automatically becomes one of the Select group.

Original members who attended Mr. Alexander's first celebration ten years ago included J. F. Patterson, who was superintendent here then; T. L. Bailey, local road foreman of engines, and E. A. Fenton, present supervising agent of the division.

Sir Henry Thornton, superintendent of the E. & A. before Mr. Patterson, but now the chairman of the Canadian National Railways, was chosen to membership when he attended the second party in 1921. He found it unable to attend yesterday's affair.

High Officers Belong

Past superintendents of the division here, all of them occupying high executive positions on the system at the present time, hold memberships, in addition to Sir Henry, Mr. Patterson and the original members of the club: C. E. Whitlock, general superintendent of the Southern Grand division at Wilmington, Del.; N. J. Fitch, general superintendent of the Eastern Ohio Grand division at Pittsburgh; who shortly becomes president of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, at Detroit; J. A. Appleton, general superintendent of the Northwestern Grand division at Chicago, and Raymond Swenk, superintendent of the Cleveland division at Cleveland, who shortly becomes head of the Philadelphia Terminal division, Philadelphia, and H. T. Frushour, present superintendent here.

Featuring the gathering of Wednesday was the dinner enjoyed in the Alexander home at noon. The affair was purely a social one.

By action of the club taken when it was organized, Mr. Alexander is life president. He retired from active service last May.

House Approves

Stobbs Measure

Makes Slight Modification In Drastic Jones "Five And Ten" Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The first modification of any prohibition legislation in years was accomplished by congress today when the house unanimously approved the Stobbs bill, which softens the drastic Jones "five and ten" law under which it has been possible to inflict a five year prison term and a fine of $10,000 for any violation of the Volstead act.

Modification of the Jones act, in order to set up a class of "petty offenders" was recommended nearly a year ago by the Wickersham law enforcement commission.

The action of the house today sends the bill to President Hoover for his signature.

Under the Stobbs bill, a class of petty prohibition law violators is created for which the maximum penalty would be six months in jail and $500 fine. Non-habitual violators who make, transport or sell not over one gallon of liquor, would fall in this class.

The maximum penalty of the Jones law, however, would still apply to the "big" bootleggers.

The Stobbs bill was opposed by Attorney General Mitchell unless the entire Wickersham commission program, submitted to congress last year, was enacted. A part of the program is still before congress however.

You're the JUDGE

Old Josiah Sikes was known as a hard man. Nevertheless Josiah had the best equipped hardware store in town and the townsmen were forced to patronize Josiah or drive to the next town some distance away to make hardware purchases.

Now Ebenezer Skinner, the builder of the town, had been buying some hardware on and off from Josiah Sikes for a number of years and no cross word had ever passed between them. But at last a day came and a disagreement arose over some item in the account and Ebenezer refused to pay it. This aroused the ire of Sikes to exactly the pitch that gave him the reputation of being hard, and after some more verbal shots at Ebenezer he filed suit.

At the trial the judge listened to all the testimony, and when it was all in he took occasion to say some quite unflattering thing about Josiah Sikes and then gave his decision to Ebenezer. This made Josiah boil. It wasn't so much the case he lost. It was the words of the judge that stirred him. So again he went to his lawyer and told him to file suit, this time against the judge for slander.

How would you decide this case? Make up your mind before you read the decision.

MRS. EMERY IS DEFENDANT IN $25,000 SUIT

Mrs. Emery is worth $100,000 and has an income of approximately $10,000 a year.

In her statement of claim Mrs. McMahon alleges that she and David M. McMahon were married in Oil City in November, 1913, and that they have two children, aged respectively 15 and 16 years. From 1915 until 1930 they resided in New Castle. She says that they got along happily together until the early part of 1930, at which time her husband became acquainted with Mrs. Emery.

Mrs. McMahon charges that after the acquaintance Mrs. Emery did "by wiles and artifices, attempt to alienate the affections of her husband, and did succeed in estranging her husband."

Charges Made

She charges that Mrs. Emery entertained Mr. McMahon at her home at 1601 East Washington street, on one occasion it is alleged that McMahon stayed two nights and the intervening day at Mrs. Emery's home.

On account of her husband's conduct, Mrs. McMahon says that she left him, leaving the children with him. Mrs. McMahon says that she has not been in very good health and that it is impossible for her to earn a livelihood for the children, and on account of Mrs. Emery's influence over her husband, she asks for $25,000 punitive damages. It is in connection with the amount of damages she asks that Mrs. McMahon estimates Mrs. Emery's fortune at $100,000 and her income of around $10,000 a year.

Lyle G. Emery, the late husband of Mrs. M. Belle Emery, was a prominent plumbing contractor of this city. He was inspector on an Erie State paving contract in 1927, and on his way to or from work was struck by an automobile near the intersection of East Washington street and Marshall avenue, receiving injuries from which he died in the New Castle hospital on July 26, 1927. The death was held to have been accidental.

Mrs. Emery brought suit against the city for compensation but lost the case.

pol in New Castle and has had charges in Brooklyn, N. Y., Warren, Pa., Sharon, Bradford, Sistersville, O., Meville, Titusville, Ridgway and Lazarville, W. Va.

"New Castle has always been our headquarters and we have seen it grow from a little bit of a village to the city of today. Churches have come—large and beautiful churches, to replace the poor places of worship of a half century ago. Great buildings have replaced the small marionettes that I can remember. The old Leslie House is one of the very few old landmarks of the main street."

Rev. Blews remarked to the writer Wednesday afternoon.

Although 81 years of age, Rev. Blews is active about his home, finds great enjoyment in reading over the volumes in his library, is a quick thinker and has an excellent memory, just as active and conducts her home and affairs.

Mrs. Blews came to this country from England when she was 20 years of age. Rev. Blews, with his parents crossed the Atlantic from their home in England in 1853, the first day of May, when Edward was three years old. The Blews family moved to this district and young Edward roomed around New Castle when he was seven or eight years old.

Father Preacher.

Rev. Blews' father was a local preacher for the Methodist and Free Methodist churches. He died in 1890. Two sons of Rev. Blews took up the study of ministry. Rev. Charles E. Blews, the oldest son, lives in Pittsburgh, and Dr. Richard R. Blews is located at Titusville. These two sons, and W. H. Blews of this city, are spending the day with their parents.

"The duties of a minister of the gospel are much the same as during the days when I started in the work, but I believe it was then more difficult to perform the duties," Rev. Blews replied to a question of the writer.

"In 1870 the churches were few, there were fewer ministers and the roads were bad. There were no automobiles and the preachers had to ride in horse drawn buggies from one appointment to another. Services wouldn't be held every Sunday in many of the churches, but twice a month or just as often as the minister could get around to them. For instance, the Croton, Moravia, Greenwood and several other churches were all under one preacher. Sermons would be delivered twice a day."

Free Methodist denomination originated 75 years ago, according to Rev. Blews. Thirty-six years ago it was started here in New Castle. It had been started in Mercer county. The Mission Chapel was the earliest meeting place for this denomination in New Castle. Rev. J. S. McGary now Bishop McGary, was the first man to preach here. He organized a class on February 24, 1884. Mrs. Joseph White was one of the pioneer workers.

Children, grandchildren, friends and relatives are calling at the Blews home today and are extending their best wishes for many more years of happiness for these respected pioneer residents of New Castle.

STAR LORE

COMPARING APPARENT BRIGHTNESS OF THE STARS WITH THEIR ACTUAL BRIGHTNESS

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

The visual magnitude of a star depends on two things—its absolute magnitude (or actual brightness) and its distance from the observer. Sirius, our star of greatest apparent magnitude, has an absolute magnitude of but 1.3, which is three points less than first magnitude. Canopus has an actual magnitude of -0.86 or nearly three magnitudes brighter than Aldebaran, an average first magnitude star. If all the stars were placed at standard distance—10 parsecs, or 32.6 light years multiplied by 10—our sun of visual magnitude -26.7 would appear as a star just a little brighter than the fifth magnitude. Sixth magnitude stars are the faintest the unaided eye pick up.

FIVE OF ITALIAN ATLANTIC AIRMEN PLUNGED TO DEATH

Plunges Into Sea

Five minutes after the second plane of the white squadron commanded by Captain Luigi Boer lifted into the air to follow the black, red and green units, his machine suddenly dived, plunged into the water at terrific speed and burst into flames. All occupants were killed and the ship was turned into a wreck.

The third plane of the Red squadron, commanded by Captain Recagno, rose only 100 feet into the air before a mishap brought it back upon the water with a terrific splash. The plane's mechanic, riding on the right pontoon, was instantly killed and the three occupants were injured.

Two supply ships which had accompanied the air flotilla from its starting point at Orbetello, Italy, were immediately ordered prepared for replacement of the wrecked pair and one hour later sailed away to catch up with the rest of the main group.

Fall To Reach Coast.

The replacement ships succeeded in coming within 100 miles of the Brazilian penal island of Fernando Noronha, but there minor mishaps forced them down. Both were found shortly by Italian cruisers and their crews rescued.

The planes were repaired and later will resume the flight to Natal. The list of the dead given by the government included the following:

Captain Luigi Boer, 29, pilot of the second plane, white squadron.

Sergeant Major Ercole Imbastic, radio operator.

Sergeant Major Luigi Fois, mechanic of the third plane, red squadron.

Planes Heavily Loaded.

The extremely heavy loads of gasoline needed by the machines to carry them across the South Atlantic were believed the cause of the crashes, according to opinions in government circles here.

It was generally believed here that General Balbo was not aware until informed at Natal of the tragedy that marred his feat at the very start, although naval vessels may have flashed this information to him en route.

In recognition of his daring accomplishment in leading ten planes across the south Atlantic, King Victor Emmanuel forwarded to him a message of congratulation.

Deaths of the Day

Mr. Bovard's Funeral

Funeral services of the late W. E. Bovard were held in the Harrisville Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon. The pastor, Rev. Allen, who was assisted by Rev. Jackson and Rev. Innes, paid a splendid tribute to the fine character and devoted Christian life of the deceased. The hundreds of friends in attendance and the many beautiful floral offerings were evidence of the high esteem in which Mr. Bovard was held. The pallbearers were J. M. McDonald, Joseph Bailey, Harry Gibson, William Cochran, Frank Carnes and James Speers, all of Harrisville. Interment was made in Harrisville.

James Dalrymple Funeral

Funeral services for James Dalrymple, East New Castle, were held Wednesday afternoon from the Slippery Rock church with Rev. Claud Downs of Petrolia officiating, assisted by Rev. Paul Elliott.

Mrs. Paul Elliott sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Rock of Ages," accompanied by Mrs. William Jarvis.

Interment was made in the Slippery Rock cemetery with friends acting as pallbearers.

Alfred Mauney Funeral

The funeral services for Alfred L. Mauney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mauney, Green street, were held Wednesday afternoon from the Bethel A. M. E. church with Rev. G. H. Coffey officiating. The church was filled with friends of the young man and the mass of beautiful floral tributes denoted the sympathy of friends.

Thirty one members of the Robin Hood Club of which Alfred was a member and bugler, attended in a body.

Rev. I. Z. Pollard and Scout Master Frederick Wilkes of Troop 14 of the Boy Scouts, assisted at the services.

Pallbearers were John Tyler, Harry Hood, Frederick Wilkes Jr., Clinton Payne, Andrew Perkins and Donald Williams. Robin Hood ceremonies were performed at the grave with taps blown by Ezra Farrow.

Samuel Lloyd Decker

Samuel Lloyd Decker aged 20, of Brent, died at 6 p. m. Wednesday, January 8 at the family home, from an attack of appendicitis.

He was born in Irwin October 11, 1910, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Decker. He was preceded in death fifteen years ago by his mother.

He had been employed as a miner in Brent since July. He was a member of the Methodist church of Irwin.

He is survived by a brother, William Decker of Brent, his father and two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Ross of Canton, Ohio and Mrs. Myrtle Vlahos of Warren, Ohio.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at 7 p. m. in the family home at Brent and the funeral party will leave Brent Saturday at 10 a. m. for Irwin, where interment will be made in the Union cemetery.

John C. Sergeant

John C. Sergeant, aged 62, 228 Garfield avenue, died at his family home Wednesday January 7, 1931, following an illness of one day from pneumonia.

Mr. Sergeant was born in New Castle, February 25, 1868, the son of Joshua and Elizabeth Careman Sergeant and had spent his entire life in the city. He had been employed the past thirty years as a motor-man on the P. and O. lines.

He had been a member of the Youngstown run during the past few years. He was a member of Division 89 of the Street Car Conductor's Union and had made many friends in the city and along his route.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bertha Z. Sergeant; two sons, Geo. Clark, John Raymond and a daughter, Helen Nedra Sergeant. Four brothers, Harry Sergeant of Colono, Robert of Elstersville, W. Va., Charles of Wilkesburg and William of Ft. Smith, Ark., also survive.

Funeral services will be held from the family residence, 228 East Garfield avenue, Saturday at 3 p. m. with Rev. G. M. Landis of the First Baptist church officiating.

HOOPER REMAINS WITH SMITH IN SENATE BATTLE

does not desire to permit a reconsideration of Smith's confirmation Controversy Rages

The first round in the controversy over Smith, involving a constitutional issue never before, will terminate with the new chairman remaining in office. But this first round verdict will not end the controversy. The senate has the power to remove Smith preemptorily from office on next July 1 by the simple expedient of refusing to appropriate any money for his salary.

Under the constitution, no federal official may serve without pay.

The constitutional question involved has really agitated the senate. Opponents of Smith declare he has not been constitutionally confirmed until after expiration of the time limit, in which his confirmation can be reconsidered.

His friends declare the senate waived its right to reconsider the nomination, by sending official notification of the confirmation to Mr. Hoover. There, the two groups battle, revolving around a simple rule, permitting reconsideration of nominations if a motion is entered within two actual executive sessions after the confirmation.

Sham Battle

The President will settle this row by refusing to send the nomination back to the senate. This information was confirmed by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican floor leader. He declared the senate was indulging in a "sham battle" since the President will never return the nomination.

The controversy developed from Smith's action in ordering the dismissal of Charles A. Russell, attorney, and William V. King, accountant, who were befriended by Progressive. Their discharge prompted the Democratic-Independent coalition to an effort to oust Smith.

J. W. Hopkins, safety agent for the Pennsylvania railroad in the central region, was a business visitor here today.

Newsboys' Dinner And Entertainment

Attended By Many

Newsies Enjoy Menu At Monthly "Feed"; Singing, Story-Telling On Program

Sixty youngsters who sell The News and are members of the Fred L. Rantz Newsboys' Club of the Young Men's Association swooped down on the association's banquet room Wednesday evening for their monthly free "feed." The affair for which the newsies look forward to eagerly, was one of the most successful in recent months.

The dinner and entertainment that followed was received with enthusiasm, by the boys who cast aside all conventions of polite society and "pajamaed" their dinner courses with hearty appetites.

The menu consisted of weiners, beans, cake and cocoa.

John Delaverson, president of the newsies' organization was in charge of the ceremonies and acted as toastmaster. The affair was directed by W. A. Thomas, the boy's work department supervisor. Singing and story-telling followed the dinner. A discussion on the subject, "What Can I Do With My Spare Time?" took place.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF JAKE LINGLE NOW IN CUSTODY

Severely Grilled

Investigation has disclosed that Lingle was put on the "spot" by a killer hired by gambling interests, whom the reporter had either double-crossed or harassed through excessive protection levies.

Brothers were seized in his south side apartment hideout December 21 and kept incommunicado in a downtown hotel while detectives and members of the board of strategy named to solve the reporter's murder questioned him day and night.

When he appeared at the early morning showup today the suspect had nothing to say. He willingly posed for photographs, but maintained a close silence that could not be called sullen.

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD International News Service Staff Correspondent Copyright, 1931, By International News Service

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 8.—"My boy is innocent. He couldn't do a thing like that." The mother was half hysterical as she spoke.

"I'm sorry for my mother's sake but he is a wife deserter, and deserves everything he gets. He deserted his son Vincent and me seven years ago." The wife's voice was cold and she spoke as impartially as a judge passing sentence.

These were the recollections of the mother and wife of Leo Brothers, when International News Service broke the news first to both of them that the blond St. Louis gunman had been named by States Attorney John A. Swanson as the long sought killer in the famous Lingle case.

Mrs. Jesse Jensen, Brother's mother, who was Mrs. Rose Brothers but who married again recently, lives in Webster Groves, fashionable St. Louis suburb. Mrs. Leo Brothers, the former Vera Loddeke, is living with her parents in North St. Louis.

When the full import of the reporter's message dawned upon the mother she became half hysterical and her words poured forth in a wild torrent in defense of her son.

"They've framed him again," she cried. "The St. Louis police have been hounding him and now the Chicago police are starting in on him."

Relief Bill Is Again Blocked

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—For the third successive day, action on the $45,000,000 feed and seed loan bill for drought stricken farmers was blocked in the house today by Rep. LaGuardia (R) of New York.

He prevented the bill from going to conference because leaders would not agree to appropriate money to buy food for the needy in cities if they approved the Caraway $15,000,000 amendment to provide food for farmers.

Traps Rabbits To Supply Food For Destitute Family

Game Protector Coen Finds Case Of Destitution In Hickory Township

Deputy Game Protector Frank Coen found a case of extreme destitution this morning when he went to the home of a man in Hickory township to arrest him on a charge of trapping rabbits out of season.

Recently Coen had released a bunch of rabbits in the district a short distance north of East Brook and was considerably provoked when he ran across evidence that the rabbits were being trapped. He traced the tracks of the man to his home, and discovered several rabbits hidden in a can. The only other food in the house was a small supply of pancake batter and some dry bread.

The man admitted trapping them, but stated that he had not been working and had no other means of supplying food for his wife and a baby, aged 16 months.

He was taken before Alderman Marshall, where he was fined, and placed under suspended sentence.

MISS ESTHER LERNER WEDS DAVID STRUTIN

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Saturday evening January 3, at seven thirty o'clock at the Broadway Central Hotel, New York City, when Miss Esther Lerner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Lerner of South Mercer street, became the bride of David Strutin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Strutin of New York City.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of approximately 100 guests. Rabbi Socoloff being the officiant. Following the congratulatory period a most elaborate dinner was served in a private dining room of the hotel which was decorated for the occasion.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin and a lace veil and carried Calla lilies. She was attended by her sister, Miss Celia Lerner. The groom was attended by his brother Boris Strutin of New York City.

The bride is a graduate of the New Castle Senior high school and of Slippery Rock State Teachers College and has been a teacher at Aiken school for the past three years. The groom is a graduate of the St. Johns University, law school, of New York City and is associated with a law firm in that city. Guests were present from Canada, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Youngstown and New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Strutin will be at home to their friends at 275 Henry St. Brooklyn, New York after January 15.

COUNTY GUEST DAY FOR GARDEN CLUB

A meeting of unusual interest is anticipated for members of the Garden Club and their guests on Saturday afternoon when they gather at the home of Mrs. S. D. Pearson on Moody avenue. Roll call will be responded to with "Why I Garden" and the program will begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

The ladies of this splendid organization have been very fortunate in getting Dr. Ralph A. Waldron, of Slippery Rock State Teachers College to speak at this time. Dr. Waldron who is an authority on botany and biology has a rare treat in store for those in attendance, and this event will without a doubt, prove of much value to those interested.

This is County guest day and a large number of guests are expected to participate.

MRS. W. V. FIELDING IS HOSTESS WEDNESDAY

The Modern Priscilla Club associates enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. W. V. Fielding on Wednesday afternoon for lunch, with 12 being in attendance.

The usual routine was efficiently carried out and the menu was served at a table beautifully decorated in various cut flowers, presenting a pretty setting. Mrs. David Rice assisted the hostess in serving. An informal social period followed.

On January 21 Mrs. W. E. Harris of Highland avenue will entertain the club ladies.

Y. L. B. Class Meets
The monthly meeting of the Y. L. B. Class of the Third United Presbyterian church was one of the pleasant events of Wednesday evening.

The members met in the church parlors, with Mrs. Ed McKibben, the president in charge. J. A. Cox is teacher of the class.

Miss Margaret Moore led the devotionals and matters of importance were brought before the members. Reports from the various section leaders and committee chairmen were most gratifying to the members and the work of the relief committee was especially pleasing.

Section D took the entertainment part of the program and presented Miss Nettie Irene Man in a pleasing piano solo: Little Gloria Pauline, a five year old entertainer, was enthusiastically greeted as she gave several readings which were remarkable for a child her age. Mrs. Charlotte Emery gave a vocal and piano number and a playlet "Mice at Play" was given by Gordon McKnight, Dorothy Gibson, Billy McKnight and Jesse Badger.

Section C had the closing part of the program, which came in the form of delicious refreshments.

Choir To Have Party
This evening the choir of the Croton Avenue Methodist church, under the direction of Mrs. June Bernard, will meet for their regular business and social meeting in the church parlors.

The evening will begin with a rehearsal period and an invitation has been extended to any member of the church with singing ability, to join.

Officers for the new year will be elected and this time and light refreshments will be served.

BRIDGE PARTY AT FIELD CLUB TONIGHT

Members of the New Castle Field Club will gather at the club house this evening for another of their delightful bridge parties. The hosts and hostesses for this event will be Judge and Mrs. James A. Chambers and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Rapoport.

Play is scheduled to begin at 8:30 o'clock and at the conclusion of the feature, a tasty lunch will be served.

WIMODAUSIS MEMBERS LUNCHEON WEDNESDAY

The regular monthly luncheon for the Wimodausis Club members will be held on Wednesday, January 14 in the Cathedral, with Mrs. C. M. Day, as hostess. Preceding the serving of the menu, a meeting of the Executive Board will be held at 12:30 o'clock.

All those planning to attend will notify Mrs. Day, phone 3686-J or Mrs. C. E. Gleason, phone 2487-R not later than Monday.

An interesting program has been arranged for this occasion. Mrs. John J. Madigan has charge of the entertainment, and it promises to be an afternoon of real enjoyment.

LADIES SEW AT JAMESON HOSPITAL

Wednesday morning, from 9 until 12 o'clock, a group of fifteen ladies gathered at the Jameson Memorial hospital to sew on articles for the institution. Members of the 1914 Book Club who were in attendance will meet there each Wednesday during the month of January to aid in this beneficial work.

It is desired that all ladies of the city interested, will be present on the dates announced to participate. There will be another meeting next Wednesday at the same time.

G. L. C. Girls

The G. L. C. Girls were charmingly entertained on Wednesday evening, January 7th at the home of Mrs. Eleonore Dewberry on North Lee Avenue.

The nine was industriously spent with needlework, and at nine o'clock the new officers were installed and a short business session held. The nature of the club was converted from a needlework society to a bridge club.

Bridge tables were placed, and the remaining hours were spent with cards and music. The high score favor was won by Miss Helen Daggon and consolation went to Miss Mae Daggon. At a seasonable hour the hostess served a tempting lunch assisted by her mother and sister. All appointments were carried out in black and white, and tall white lighted tapers in black holders centered each of the small tables.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Miss Margaret Davis on West Washington street.

Wednesday Evening Bridge.

Members of the Wednesday Evening Bridge club were delightfully entertained Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. L. W. McClung, Sheridan avenue.

Three tables of bridge were in play during the evening and high scores were held by Mrs. W. H. Burkle and Mrs. May L. Ray.

Special guests were Mrs. C. L. Strieb and Mrs. May L. Ray.

On the conclusion of play the guests gathered around the dining room table for a delectable repast. The table was lovely with its centerpiece of cut flowers in Dresden shades, the appointments being in keeping.

Mrs. D. W. Howard of Croton avenue, will receive the members January 21.

Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lechner, Highland avenue, were hosts to the immediate family Wednesday evening at a dinner in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Ned Chapman, the occasion being her birthday.

The table was centered with a large birthday cake, the pink and white frosting and candles spelling out a birthday greeting. Tall lighted pink tapers added much to the appearance of the table, whose clever appointments carried out a color scheme of pink and white.

After a delicious menu had been served the evening hours were spent informally with music and cards. Mrs. Chapman received lovely gifts and many greetings.

W. W. G. Class

Members of the W. W. G. class of the Third United Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Charles Longacre is the teacher, met Wednesday evening at the home of Mary Ellen Lalley, Maryland avenue, for the regular monthly meeting with thirteen members and one visitor present.

A short business session opened the meeting and this was followed by a period of games and music. A delicious lunch was served at the close of the evening.

February 13 was chosen as the date of the next meeting, at the home of Jane Davidson, on the Butler road.

Birthday Party Event

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hoch entertained in their home on Wilmington avenue, a group of 22 little guests honoring the 13th birthday of their daughter Margaret on Wednesday evening, from 7 to 10 o'clock.

The house was nicely decorated throughout, and favors in keeping with the seasons were given each guest. Games and music were diversions of the evening, and at a suitable time, Mrs. Hoch and Miss Grace Barth served an appetizing lunch.

The guest of honor was the recipient of many beautiful gifts in memory of the day.

The Unusual Club
Miss Charlotte Colla entertained the Unusual Club members in her home on the street Tuesday evening. The members were given each game and cards as the main pastimes. Later, the hostess served a delicious lunch assisted by Mrs. Sam Cloia, her mother. At a suitable time, the Miss Colla was presented with a beautiful gift in behalf of the club members.

The next meeting will be with Miss Rose De Felice in two weeks.

Y. O. A. GIRLS CLUB HAS MEETING

Mrs. John Morrow of Gardner Stop had as her guests Wednesday evening members of the Y. O. A. Girls Club and Mrs. William Vogan and Mrs. Philip Moore. Games of a wide variety were enjoyed as the pastimes and appropriate prizes in contests were won by Mrs. Frank Clinefelter and Mrs. Raymond Rhodes. At a suitable hour the hostess served lunch, having as her aid Mrs. William Vogan. The decorations suggested the present season in an attractive manner and novelty favors were given each guest.

In two weeks Mrs. Thomas Perrott of Norwood avenue will be hostess to the club at her home.

ELWILDA KENSINGTON PLANS TUREEN DINNER

The Elwilda Kensington members met with Mrs. P. J. Meehan on North Crawford avenue Wednesday evening for their usual event. The ladies had as their special guests, Mrs. Minnie McAllen, of Baldwin, Long Island, Mrs. J. E. Ligo and Mrs. Howard Platt Meehan.

After a social hour had been enjoyed, spent with chat and needlework, the hostess served dainty refreshments. She was assisted by Mrs. Howard Platt Meehan.

Later, a business meeting was held, and plans were completed for a 6:30 o'clock tureen dinner to be held at the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas on County Line street in two weeks. This will take the place of their regular meeting.

L. D. K. Missionary

Mrs. Nelson Armstrong, entertained the members of the L. D. K. Missionary Society of the Third United Presbyterian church, Wednesday evening, at her home on Beckford street.

Miss Maude Zeigler, vice president, was in charge of the business session and the devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Effie Smock and Mrs. Ruth Gibson.

Plans were laid for a silver tea to be held in the church February 17.

The missionary program was in charge of Mrs. Armstrong and roll call from Egypt was conducted by Helen Kyle. Short talks on "The Younger Generation" was given by Gladys Gray. "A Work for the Babies," Helen Kyle, "Egypt's Thank Offering," Mrs. Armstrong; "Bible Teachers and Teachers of Women," Maude Zeigler. The mission study on the southern missions was given by Mrs. Ruth Gibson.

During the social period the girls worked on a comfort, which they will send to an orphan's home.

Tyrus Hemminger assisted the hostess in serving a dainty lunch at the close of the evening.

1907 Club Event

Mrs. James O'Laughlin of West Washington street was hostess to the 1907 Club members in her home Wednesday, having as special guests Mrs. John Logue and Miss Gertrude O'Laughlin, the latter who is from Canada.

Five hundred was the diversion, and prizes for honors were won by Mrs. Mary Deverall and Mrs. Chris Avery. A period of sociability followed, when the hostess served a dainty lunch assisted by Mrs. John Logue.

Mrs. Frederick Beard of West Washington street will receive the ladies in her home in two weeks.

Friendship Club

Mrs. E. Casachia of Taylor street was a charming hostess last evening when she entertained the Friendship Club members in her home. The event proved most entertaining.

A brief business session was held and the election of new officers occurred and were installed. A dainty lunch was later served.

Mrs. A. Veri will receive the members in her home on Pearson street for the first regular meeting of the year on January 14.

St. Joseph's 500 Club

A very nice gathering of guests took part in the card party held at St. Joseph's Hall on South Jefferson street Wednesday afternoon when the St. Joseph's 500 Club entertained. At the close of the game the prizes for honors were awarded to Mrs. George Veach and Mrs. James Hagan.

There will be another event given next Wednesday afternoon at the same time.

N. H. B. KENSINGTON HAS REGULAR MEETING

Mrs. L. C. Houston, of North street, delightfully entertained fourteen associates of the N. H. B. Kensington in her home Wednesday, with chat and needlework as diversions. Special attractions of the social hour were the cute pranks of baby Ann Cooper and Sally Stetson.

During the meeting, Christmas cards were read from Mrs. S. G. Gano of Newark, Illinois, and Mrs. J. P. Robertson of Erie, both former members of the club. At a suitable hour, an elaborate collation was served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Foster. It was served at a table tastefully appointed in varied colored flowers which also were used throughout the house.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Chester Craft on Beckford street.

MRS. TRIPP WILL BE SPECIAL GUEST

Mrs. Matthew A. Tripp of Highland avenue who is a member of the staff of the president of the State Department of the Ladies of the G. A. R. by reason of the fact that she is a member of the council of administration of the state department, will be a guest Friday evening with the state president and other staff officers at the meeting of the Ellwood City Circle of the Ladies of the G. A. R.

Class Elects Officers
Members of the True Blue Class of the Second United Presbyterian church of which Mrs. Norman Patton is the teacher, met Wednesday evening in the home of Alberta Reeder for the regular monthly business and social meeting.

The devotional period was led by Miss Reeder after which the business of the evening was gone into with an election of officers as the feature.

Martha Randles was chosen as president; Lura Jenkins, vice president; Mildred Dodds, secretary and Hazel Houston, treasurer.

Closing the business, the hostess invited the girls to the dining room where a dainty repast was served at a table beautifully appointed in keeping with the season.

An appetizing lunch was later served, the hostess using the small tables. She had dainty pastel hues predominating in the decorations.

T. L. T. Kensington

Mrs. Edward Roberts of East Washington street entertained the T. L. T. Kensington members in her home Tuesday evening. During the business transactions, a donation was taken up for the purpose of preparing baskets of food for needy families the ladies are interested in. A period of games and chat followed, and a dainty lunch served.

The date and place of the next meeting will be announced later.

GOING AFTER BUSINESS

CONCERNING the forecasts on business there is a wide range of opinion from a measurable gain in the spring to the most pessimistic view that there will be no real recovery until later. It would, more than ever, seem wise policy for the business executive, therefore, to cut away from any dependence on what the general situation may turn out to be and to study ways and means of improving things for himself.

There has been a lamentable tendency on the part of many business interests to let general business conditions and prospects count too largely in their own plans and activities. They have accepted the bad with the best, believing both inevitable and the part to be controlled by the whole.

Anybody can do business when times are good and business can be had for the taking. But in time of business distress when there isn't enough to go around, the concern which resigns itself to the fate of business in general suffers while a wide-awake enterprise goes out and makes business and prosperity for itself. Just as sales resistance is the proof of the good salesman, a business depression is proof of initiative and the never-say-die spirit in business.

Some business enterprises will be better because of the depression. Necessity is the mother of invention, and the business still paying good dividends is able to do it because necessity has compelled it to find and develop new markets, to improve quality and lower prices, or to discover some other way to stimulate trade.

A REMARKABLE RECORD

For the first time since 1853 there is not one company in the United States playing "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Modern drama boasts of the run of five years of "Able's Irish Rose," which seems like a theatrical failure in comparison with the 77-year run of the pre-Civil war melodrama.

The end of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" marks the passing of an era. It belonged to an age that is dead and largely forgotten. Today it is an antique, destined to be revived where dramatic tastes are primitive and to go down in history as the world's outstanding example of propaganda become popular entertainment and finally bone and sinew of the theater's history, a sentimental, thesis-speaking marvel which somehow has become more real than life, more historic than lore.

Harriet Beecher Stowe's story was an effective firebrand during the slavery controversy and was instrumental in throwing the country into civil war, but for three-quarters of a century it has served as a school for actors and actresses and as the first dramatic fare of millions of Americans. There are back countrymen today who know no drama but that of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and, perhaps, "Ten Nights in a Barroom."

UPHOLDING THE AMENDMENT'S VALIDITY

It is the opinion of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting in New York, that the Eighteenth Amendment was legally adopted and is valid. The decision is diametrically opposed to that of Judge Clark of the Federal Court at Newark, N. J. The cases before the two courts were almost precisely similar. Defendants in liquor prosecutions had appealed from sentences in the lower courts on the ground that the amendment had not been constitutionally ratified. The Newark judge, in an elaborate discussion of what he termed the "principles of political science," argued that ratification should have come from constitutional conventions in the states. The New York jurists disagree in toto. They say:

"In national prohibition cases the Supreme Court squarely held that the Eighteenth Amendment, prohibiting the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, was within the power to amend as reserved by the fifth article of the Constitution; that the Amendment had been lawfully proposed and ratified and had become a part of the Constitution and must be respected and given effect the same as the other provisions of that instrument."

Since the Supreme Court is on record and has decreed the validity of the Amendment, what more is there to be said? The Newark opinion will go before it. So will the New York decision. But it is difficult to imagine that the court of final resort can be induced to reverse itself. It is also difficult to understand why anyone should anticipate anything different, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, considering the fact that every amendment to the Constitution has been ratified by the legislatures of the individual commonwealths.

There are two ways of eliminating the Prohibition Amendment. One is for congress to submit a repeal resolution to the states, requiring the consent of three-fourths of them. The second is for two-thirds of the states themselves to demand of congress that it call a convention for the purpose of proposing amendments and neither is at all imminent.

The 1931 models are faster and deadlier. One consolation, the dead pedestrian cannot be any deader.

It is hard to guess a man's status in America, except for the principle that if he acts important he isn't.

Second-rate authors have the hardest time. They have no reputation and must keep right on doing good work.

Not every man writes his own epitaph. Yet, involuntarily perhaps, there comes to every man a moment when he wonders about the deep mystery which waits for him at journey's end.

Perhaps those of us who have not yet found an answer to such a thought, may do so in the words of Benjamin Franklin who not only wrote his own epitaph at the beginning of a glorious career, but found in his words the inspiration for a life of rich achievement, when he wrote:

Leadership.
Every man who wears the mantle of Leadership, whether it be in business, on the battlefield, or on the football gridiron, carries a dual responsibility. The first is to win. The second is to so lead that the human clay which he is moulding and guiding, will reach its highest possibilities under his Leadership. This is just as true of a head clerk or a branch manager or an athletic coach as it is of a president.

In the stress and struggle of daily living we emphasize of course, the first of these responsibilities. Yet the second may mean far more for every man concerned than even the first.

Our natural tendency also is to stress the rewards which come with Leadership and to forget its responsibilities. Ask the average man if he will aspire to be a leader and he will reply: "Certainly—all my aims and ambitions are directed to that end." Yet many a man would shrink in despair from Leadership if he could see in advance the real price it demands of those who would wear the crown.

It is well incidentally to remember also, that the soundest of all Leadership is the kind which will not ask of its followers a single deed or act which it is itself unwilling to perform or better still, incapable of performing. Perhaps in the whole mortality of business there is little need of any other rule.

Are You High-Hatting Yourself?

There you go, wearing a High Hat. There you go, thinking nobody can see it.

You deny it hotly, with a hurt look. You say you're not wearing a High Hat. You never snubbed anybody in your life. You never passed up an old friend. You've always been friendly and sociable and one of the fellows. Nobody can say you've ever been a snob. And you can't stand people who wear a High Hat through life. They give you a pain.

Yes, I know. That's right. You don't High Hat other people, that's true. But I know you better than other people know you. I'm quite sure of that. . . . And I tell you that you're wearing a High Hat. You've been snubbing Yourself. You've been snubbing your own dreams and desires. You've been High Hatting YOU, and that's the worst of all High Hatting.

You know what I mean. Don't say you don't. You wanted to be one kind of fellow—and you're another. You wanted, perhaps, to be a teacher and live a quiet and reflective life, earning little but living largely. But you're not a teacher because you High Hat that ambition and became a businessman instead. It's all right for other people to be businessmen—they fit into it better than you do—but you are miserable and you know it. . . . You never wanted more than two or three friends—and you could have had those few, if you had really wanted them. But no, you decided you had to have a "wide acquaintance," so you buzz around and say hello to a thousand men and women. And your heart is hollow because you High Hat that deeply friendly self.

All your life, it seems, you've been wanting to do something—something you ought to do—and then sacrificing it for something cheaper and more glittering. You've been High Hatting yourself and you haven't known it. Or maybe you've known it and been ashamed to admit it.

How do I know these things about you? . . . Well, I know myself. And I know how often I've done things I didn't want to do just because I wasn't brave enough to follow my own road. I've snubbed myself, high hat myself and pretended I wasn't doing it—and been sorry and disgusted afterwards. . . . So I can tell by the look in your eyes that you've been doing it, too. And if you wish to be friends with yourself again, just get rid of that High Hat. It's not too late.

Use your eyes and use your brain. Every day sees something new. Someone welds a stronger chain; Someone finds a way to do This or that in quicker speed. That or this in better style. Somewhere for the things we need Men are working all the while.

There is no such thing as best. Progress keeps us on the move; All that seems to meet the test. Somebody will soon improve. Nothing's fashioned to endure. Everything must pass away. All that seems so safe and sure May be bettered in a day.

Science throws the old aside. Thinkers find a newer plan. And when it is proved and tried All the world is changed for man. Just a thought and methods old Are abandoned for the new; Something else is being sold Which a thinker learned to do.

THOSE FAMILY ARGUMENTS

Trivial things cause most family quarrels. Unimportant conditions should not be permitted to engender ill feeling.

Too often, one or the other in a family partnership is only too ready to take offense and resent remarks that seem to reflect unfavorably. Two human beings cannot expect to live a period of years in such close association as the home without differences of opinion.

There are bound to be times when unkind words will be spoken. But such occasions should not be of frequent occurrence.

Discussions should not be carried to the point of unpleasantness. Emotions should not be aroused to the point where there is a desire to hurt or wound the feelings of the other.

Think of most of the quarrels in your own home.

Usually they were the outcome of a very small matter. If quarrels in your married life were limited to matters of importance, there would be very few to remember.

In most of the instances you know that you were unjust or unfair when you quarreled with your life-partner. (Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.)

Third Party Idea Is Classed With Futile Attempts In Past

Professor Dewey's Project Believed By Public To Lack Prospects Of Success In View Of Strength Of Two-Party System

Doubt that practical results could be obtained in American politics by a third party is expressed in the comments on the recent suggestion from Professor John Dewey. Both Senator Norris and Senator Borah have indicated a lack of interest in the project. The history of third party movements is held to show little prospect of success, while it is again affirmed that the United States is definitely committed to the two-party system.

"The insurgents want to hang on to their chairmanships in congress, which they would lose if they marched under their own flag," says CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR. "Also, the country, with the memory of the third-party movement under Roosevelt and La Follette, is two-party minded. As a matter of fact, the country is under the sway of at least four parties—the regular Republicans, the insurgent 'Republicans' as they insist on calling themselves, and the southern and northern Democrats. The 'two old parties' are a political fiction so far as congress is concerned, but thus far in our history they are a fortunate fact in the executive department of government."

Reminding Professor Dewey of incidents "on the campus" at his own institution, Columbia university, the ST. LOUIS TIMES advises that "he ought to know his history" and adds: "Third parties in politics are just as useless as third parties on the university grounds. In politics, as in the social affairs of the campus, three are a crowd." The LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT, agreeing that "two parties are enough," finds confirmation of this in "American political tradition," and holds that "a multitude of parties is unthinkable to the average American." The DANBURY NEWS argues that "if enough good citizens make use of the machinery provided by the two-party system, we can have ideal government."

"Changes are going on and always will go on," declares the SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS. "The two great parties changed mightily since their earliest days. There always will be points at issue between them, and with the two, there will be enough changes to satisfy the slow-moving majority of the people." The MADISON WISCONSIN STATE JOURNAL voices the conclusion: "In their hearts, these insurgents seem to feel that the Republican party is a source of strength. . . . Seemingly the insurgents desire both the asset of the Republican party's strength, and the additional aid they can secure for their purposes socially, through the support of demands they consider momentarily popular, even if they are out of harmony with Republican party programs."

"The only third party movement that made an impression" recalls the NEW ORLEANS STATES, "was that of the late President Roosevelt, and its only effect was to defeat President Taft and save the party." The OKLAHOMA CITY TIMES indorses the view of Senator Borah that "a new party must have its origin with the masses of the people and not from a few idealistic leaders, if it is to attain formidable strength."

Emphasis is placed on the fact that "third-party movements in this country have never fared very well," by the ANNISTON STAR, with the comment that "Dr. Dewey is one of the foremost philosophers of today, but his philosophy does not serve him well when he ventures into the realm of politics." The OSHKOSH DAILY NORTHWESTERN feels that "history would be likely to repeat itself," while the SANTA MONICA OUTLOOK avers that "what the result would be might be stated with tolerable accuracy" by the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, it argues: "The late Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who had more powers of political dramatization than any other leader during a half century was unable to do the very thing that Dr. Dewey is setting out to do. We therefore, very much fear that Columbia's distinguished philosopher will find there is much more in political affairs than was ever dreamed of in his own or any other system of philosophy since time began."

"The demand has been heard in the land for years," according to the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR "for a new political alignment, with all the liberal minded on one side of the fence and all the conservative minded on the other; with the sheep separated from the goats, or vice versa, according to taste. It has been impossible, however, for any one yet to bring about such an alignment. There have been as many different degrees of liberalism, too many of conservatism. There have been too many issues, such as prohibition, for example, over which liberals and conservatives have divided among themselves."

"Professor Dewey holds that no amount of being from within is going to reform the old parties," says the MANCHESTER UNION, "which is interesting and significant. For it illustrates perfectly the difficulty of devising a new party so comfortably elastic that it could take in Professor Dewey, and Senators Borah and Norris, and all the other left-wing statesmen."

"It is inconceivable that any progressive party could run wider than the Democratic and Republican parties have been running for more than a decade," maintains the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, agreeing that Senator Norris "can hardly be blamed for refusing to do his fighting for reform within the ranks."

Criticizing the Dewey idea of a world in which "social planning" would supersede vigorous individualism, the PORT WATNEY NEWS-SENTINEL contends that "not even Norris can destroy the individual." The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION argues that there is "no need and no room for the Dewey brand of social philosophy," and the DES MOINES TRIBUNE-CAPITAL voices the judgment that "if Norris should move over to Dewey, he would be followed by the friendly interest of a good many other progressives—and by the political fortunes of practically none of them."

"The Progressives are not apt to bolt the Republican party outright," according to the ROANOKE TIMES, "because it suits their purposes and policies better to continue their nominal party allegiance. But for all practical purposes, so far as the Hoover administration is concerned, they might as well go over openly to the Democrats." The SCHENECTADY GAZETTE remarks that "the best we can do is to suggest that they ally themselves with the Democratic party." The SAN FRANCISCO OBSERVER-DISPATCH sees no prospect of success for "the choice band of knife wielders," and the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL avers that "people are not sufficiently stirred by the situation to consider new parties."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

AND NOW LOOK

It took the Government of the United States a long time to properly house the Ambassadors in foreign capitals and it was not until the late Myron T. Herrick bought the Paris Palace out of his own money at a bargain and offered it to his Nation at the purchase price that the country owned a single bit of foreign real estate.

It is all different now. The "Blucher property" in Berlin has been recently purchased, subject to vacation by present tenants, for use of the American Embassy. The price of the American Embassy, for use of the American Embassy, is $1,800,000 according to an announcement made by the Department of State. The structure is located in the heart of Berlin's shopping and official section.

And how much do Ambassadors receive as an annual stipend?

Chicago Police Are Baffled By Death Of Women

Woman Found Strangled To Death In Lover's Apartment In Chicago

TOWEL IS USED BY FIENDISH SLAYER

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—A new twist was given to the mystery garroting of an attractive woman in a West Side apartment today when it was revealed that the stranger's victim was Miss Margaret Jean Stevens, 30.

The murdered woman was first thought to be Mrs. George Neilson, wife of a foundry foreman. Neilson, taken into custody later in Crown Point, Ind., informed the police the woman was not his wife, but Miss Stevens, with whom he shared the apartment.

A towel had been twisted tightly about Miss Stevens' throat and knotted. A pillow had been thrown over her face.

The steady burning of lights in the apartment and the incessant barking of a pet dog aroused neighbors, and the police were called last night.

One of the woman's arms was bruised, but there was no other evidence of violence. She had been dead for at least 24 hours, detectives estimated.

Neilson was said to have given the police valuable information. He broke down and wept at news of the killing and said he was engaged to marry Miss Stevens. He asserted she was a native of Omaha, Neb., and was divorced.

will be able to extract much real satisfaction from the commission's conclusions on prohibition, according to reports in seemingly reliable sources.

The dries, however, probably will like it better than the wets, for it is understood the commission will not propose any drastic modification of existing law, either affecting the 18th amendment or the Volstead act, but on the contrary will recommend further trial of both under such corrective suggestions as the commissioners have been able to agree upon.

In this sense the report is described as preponderantly dry. What comfort the wets can extract from it will have to be found in the recommendations for the correction of abuses under the existing system.

Heretofore, it has been understood that President Hoover would not immediately transmit the report to congress for fear of kicking up such a ruckus as to imperil the appropriation bills and perhaps force an extra session of the new 72nd congress.

ever, for it is now authoritatively stated that Mr. Hoover plans to keep the report on his desk only long enough to read it and prepare a covering message for its submission to congress.

Three avenues are open to Mr. Hoover in his communication of the report to congress:

(1) A message of approval of the findings of the majority.

(2) A message of disapproval of the findings, or.

(3) Merely a formal letter of transmittal, taking no position, but merely forwarding the findings for the information of congress.

The expectation is that the president will approve the findings of the majority and make their views his views, although there is, of course, no assurance of that. But inasmuch as the commission is personally selected by him, it is almost inconceivable that the president would recommend the rejection of its report by the congress. It is almost similarly inconceivable that he could forward a report of such tremendous popular interest without committing himself in some way upon the value of it.

Will Get Blessing.

Therefore, the opinion is almost universally held in the capital that when the Wickersham report goes to the capitol it will be with an executive blessing.

Some of the president's friends believe he will take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded to clarify his position on the broad question of prohibition—perhaps chart the course he expects to take with regard to prohibition in the 1932 campaign, which is now looming ahead.

Mr. Hoover's commitments on prohibition have been comparatively few.

In the pre-convention campaign of 1928 he described prohibition as "a noble experiment that must be worked out constructively." During the campaign he said the whole question ought to be examined by a commission, which he later made effective by the appointment of the Wickersham commission.

In his inaugural message he said disrespect for law was the greatest problem before the country, and called upon the country to obey the law. In his last message to congress he ignored the question completely.

Hence the expectation on the part of some of his friends, at least, that when he sends the Wickersham report to congress he will give the country a greater elaboration of his views on prohibition than he has ever done before, either as a candidate or as president.

Dinner For Parents
A pleasant event of Wednesday evening was the family dinner given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Daugherty, Sankey street, when they entertained for Mr. Daugherty's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Daugherty.

A color scheme of green and white was tastefully carried out in the table decorations and a delicious menu served.

The evening hours were spent informally with music and general conversation as the pastime.

N. E. W. Club
The N. E. W. Club members entertained at their regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Wallace Pitzer of New Wilmington. Cards were the diversion, and prizes for honors were won by Mrs. W. Grayson Coates and Mrs. Jack Dunlap.

A dainty lunch was served to eight guests at the conclusion of the game, the hostess being assisted by her daughter, Miss Maxine Coates.

On January 20 Mrs. Charles Coates of Milton street will be the hostess.

Malizia Maidens.
On Wednesday evening the Malizia Maidens met at the home of Helen Parzone where the girls had an enjoyable evening playing games and sewing. Later a business meeting was held for the purpose of getting pins for the club.

A delightful luncheon was served by the hostess and enjoyed by all. Next Wednesday all the girls will meet and visit Theresa Lombardo, one of the club members, who is in the New Castle hospital.

Merry Maidens
Miss Harriett Vickery of Boyles avenue was a charming hostess to the members of the Merry Maidens in her home last evening. Two tables of bridge were in play during the evening, favor being awarded Mrs. William Twaddle and Mrs. Vera Bruce. At a suitable hour the hostess served a delicious lunch. The club will meet in two weeks with Miss Margaret Vogan of Adams street.

Douglas Club.
The Douglas social, civic and welfare club will meet at the home of Charles Alexander, 212 Home street, Friday evening, January 9, at 8 o'clock.

D. D. S. B. Club to Meet
The D. D. S. B. Club members will be entertained this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shaw who resides at 324 Park avenue.

STOMACH UPSET
Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

pled the fact that people seem willing not only to tolerate divorce but also to ratify it by law.

Avenues of Corruption.
"Divorce is fatal for nature," he declared in his encyclical, "it opens new avenues of corruption in parliamentary and public life."

The effect of the stage, motion picture, modern literature and radio broadcasts on the divine institution of marriage caused the pontiff "serious concern," he said that these public means of entertainment regularly offended marital principles even to the extent of praising divorce and excusing it.

Continuing into the second part of the encyclical, the pope bitterly attacked modern marital theories, caustically observing that "some people have even gone so far as to invent new forms of a temporary union called 'companionate marriage,' which is nothing less than free love."

He criticized those who claimed that children are a burden to be avoided not through continence but in view, as Judas did. He roundly denounced birth control, labelling it a crime against unborn children.

Elaborating on the subject, the pontiff declared he fully understands the fear of those whose sufferings would be too great to permit children, but advises chastity in place of contraception. Marriage, he pointed out here, has far higher aims than the mere satisfying of physical passions.

Determined Stand.
Pope Pius XI took a determined stand against the medical necessity of saving a mother's life at the risk of the child's life, but instead advised honest surgeons to strive their utmost to save both. Legislatures were admonished not to forget their duty in defending innocent lives; he maintained the excesses of eugenics also called for sound criticism.

The pontiff, referring to women's emancipation, pointed out that physiological emancipation means nothing less than avoidance of woman's highest duty to mankind, namely, motherhood. In the same breath he viewed women's social and economic emancipation as largely an excuse for abandoning of family duties in pursuit of business and other occupations.

Referring to mixed marriages be-between Catholics and non-Catholics the pope stated:

"Many endanger their home and eternal salvation when without serious grounds they enter into marriage, which the church wisely thinks is often the result of children straying away from their religious teachings."

Duty Toward Future.
In appealing for a new attitude and remedy of the enumerated faults, Pope Pius turned to the world's statesmen, reminding them of their duty toward the future generations and recommending a newer and stricter marriage code.

Personal property of Mike and Dora Peric has been seized at Bessemer.

Constipation Diet Must Fit Need Of Individuals

Diet is generally recognized as one of the very important methods of treatment of constipation. To be effective, it must be fitted to the individual needs of the particular patient.

There is a great deal of confusion about constipation in the minds of both of the public and the medical profession. When a person says, "I am constipated," he usually means something more than absence of regularity. He means a set of sensations for one thing. And he means that some drug or treatment is used to promote regular action.

Some of these sensations—their name is legion—are headache, backache, biliousness, bad taste in the mouth, spots before the eyes, sensation or eruptions on the skin—these are almost as numerous as the fruits and vegetables, cathartics, exercise, massage of the abdomen, cannonball rolling of the abdomen, etc.

But the fact that these two elements predominate in the history—the symptoms ascribed to a disease and the anticipatory treatments of it—indicate that most "constipated" people are really living more in fear of the condition than actually having it.

In fact, if I were asked what the principal cause of constipation was I should say fear. Fear of what? Fear of constipation. Or, in other words, and every doctor who has studied the question will agree with me, the principal cause of constipation is the use of cathartics or (almost the same thing) a diet with too much roughage in it.

It is true some people need roughage and the stimulation which non-absorbable material in the food gives to the colon. But many more have sensitive colons, and the roughage and the cathartics irritate the inside of these bowels, causing an irritation which drives them to take more roughage or more cathartics. Thus a vicious circle is started, and such cases of constipation can be cured only by withdrawal of the cathartics and the substitution of a smooth diet for a rough one.

The dietary treatment of constipation, then, is not so simple as adding roughage to the food. Nor is simple regularity the only object of treatment. What is also wanted is the banishment of the constipated feelings—the symptoms of fullness, of sluggishness in the bowel, of headache, fear, biliousness, etc. There are, in fact, many people who do not have daily movements who are not constipated at all.

Some people have very sensitive colons and are made worse on the usual roughage diet for constipation. They need a smooth diet. Others for whom the roughage diet is well adapted need stimulation to the colon. These diets will be described in the following articles.

Boy Scout News

CROTON HAS PARTY

Twenty scouts attended the regular meeting of Croton M. E. Troop 6 at the Croton church recently, with Scoutmaster McCracken and Assistant Scoutmaster West in charge. The pledge of allegiance and scout oath were recited as opening ceremonies.

Dues were first collected and good turns called for. Three games were played. Steal the Bacon, Flag Relay and Prisoner's Base. Many books are being used from the library.

This being a social evening, a party then took place. Arrangements were in charge of Scouts H. Rodgers, Charles Kolan and W. Wimer. Food remaining was taken to a needy family. Two new scout candidates, Charles Sizer and Herbert McCracken, were received.

Grove City Seeks School Meeting

Will Invite Northwestern Pennsylvania School Boards To Hold Convention

GROVE CITY, Jan. 8.—The question of establishing a Manual Training department in the Grove City High school was the leading question for discussion at the meeting of the board of education held Monday evening in the High school.

The question was taken up with the board by Superintendent H. M. B. Lehn and was discussed quite freely by the members and the superintendent.

The matter was discussed along various other angles but nothing of a definite nature was done during the meeting.

A motion was made during the meeting to invite the Northwestern Pennsylvania School Board Convention to be held next October to meet in Grove City and the invitation will be extended through Professor R. G. Walters of the Grove City College faculty.

The matter of the indebtedness of the High School Athletic Association was brought before the board by Superintendent Lehn, who told the members that the local athletic association was in debt between $1,200 and $1,300 and asked that some financial assistance be given them.

President Platt appointed the following committees for the year: Furniture and repairs, M. W. Graham and Dr. Montgomery; Budget and teachers salaries, Mrs. Monroe and M. W. Graham; Grounds, Mr. R. E. English.

HI-Y MEETING

The regular weekly meeting of the Hi-Y club was held Monday evening in the high school. The meeting was opened and led by James McClelland and was closed by Jack Campbell. During the meeting a letter which was received by Joseph Hartman from one of the families is the organization had helped to make Christmas Day more pleasant, was read. A cleanup drive was also started to cleanup the waste paper that has been thrown around the High school building and yard.

Following the business of the meeting the members retired to the gym where a good time was enjoyed.

KING'S DAUGHTERS MEET

The regular meeting of the King's Daughters of the United Presbyterian church was held in the church Tuesday evening. The program leader was Mrs. J. A. ## KONJOLA WENT RIGHT TO WORK

Former Sufferer Says New Medicine Did More Good Than Trip In Search Of Health.

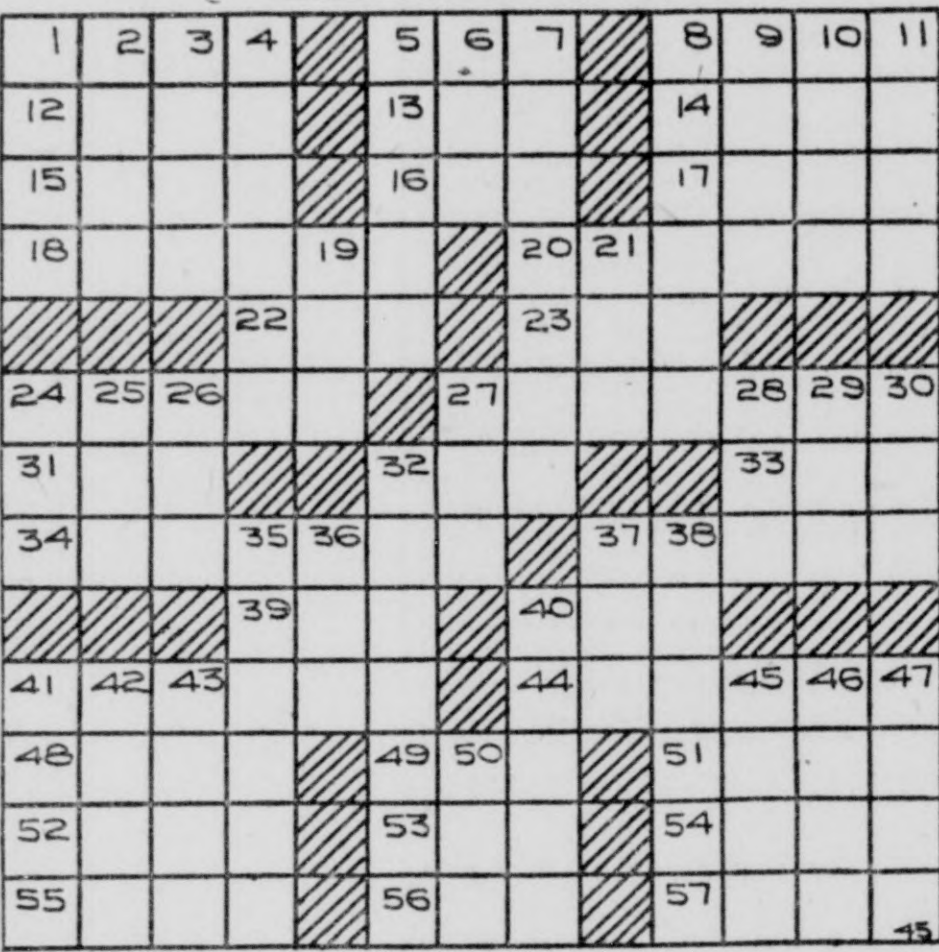

MR. WILLIAM CHARLTON

"For six months I could not eat a thing without suffering from cramps and sharp pains in my stomach," said Mr. William Charlton, 12 Boston street, Pittsburgh. "Pain kept me awake at night. Catarrh, too, bothered me severely and I was finally forced to go West for my health. I improved in health while there but upon my return to Pittsburgh my old troubles returned.

"I finally began taking Konjola and four bottles of this medicine did me more good than my trip in search of health. I shall continue to use Konjola right along and I am telling all my friends about this great medicine."

Konjola is recommended over a six to eight week period for ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness. Konjola is sold by Love & McGowan, the Druggists, 204 East Washington St., this city.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Peter's Adventures

"You sent for me, Mistress," said Lively, "I am here. What can I do to serve you?"

"Carry me home!" declared Commander, and suddenly flopped to the ground and curled into a ball. What had made Commander do that? Was she worse? Peter was tender-hearted, and didn't like to see anybody suffer. He didn't care much for Commander Red Ant, but now he anxiously bent over her.

"I am so sorry, Commander! I shouldn't have let you take my weapon, then you would not have hurt yourself!" said the boy. "Is there anything I can do for you?"

Commander looked up into the boy's face and feebly giggled.

"For goodness sakes, don't look so solemn, young Two-Legs, or I shall have hysterics. Didn't you ever see an ant on her back before?"

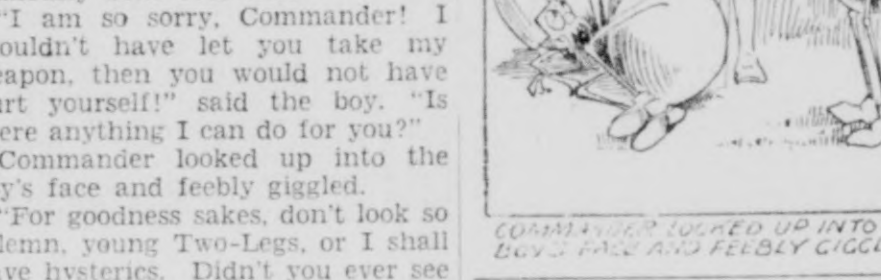

"No," said Peter. "Why are you in that position?"

"My horse is waiting to carry me home. I am making it easy for her," answered Commander.

"Your horse," repeated Peter, puzzled. But without answering him, Commander called to her slave.

"Come on, Lively! Look jaws with me, and we will be off. But, mind you, slave, don't walk too fast, and be careful not to jar me. I am not feeling so well, and I do not care to be jolted. Go slow, so that the boy may keep up with you. I am no longer afraid of losing him—I have his word that he will remain with us—but I am afraid if you gallop at the pace you so often do, that the boy will lose us!"

Next: "Horses! Horses! Horses!"

COMMANDER FLOPPED UP INTO THE BOY'S ARMS AND FEBLY GIGGLED.

Escapes Killing Indictment

Sixteen-year-old Margaret Murray (right) told her own story before the Nassau County Grand Jury at Long Island, N. Y., in their investigation of the "ride" murder on December 21 of Steven Sweeney, ex-convict and friend of the girl. The Grand Jury refused to indict her, but she is held in $50,000 bail as a material witness. Her sister and mother (left) visited the jail and promised to aid her.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

The new year holds bright promise for one commodity, at least, not to mention the manufacturers thereof. That is corn sugar.

A couple of weeks ago the secretary of agriculture cut through a tangle of objections, both within and without his department, and announced that food products in which corn sugar is used as the sweetening will no longer have to print that fact on the outside label. There are, you know, many kinds of sugars known to the chemists. Our ordinary white granulated and powdered sugar is made from sugar cane juice or sugar beet juice. Its technical name is sucrose. Everybody knows the sugar that comes from maple sap. The artichoke produces another sugar which (if my memory is correct) is technically called levulose.

Corn sugar is still another member of the family, and its pet name is dextrose. It has been known for a long time, but its use in prepared foods has always been under a cloud, because in its crude form it is not inviting, and it is used to be used, not for sweetening, but to adulterate syrups and honey.

The question of clearing the reputation of dextrose came up seriously several years ago. It is manufactured by one large corporation and several small ones, and one of the objections urged on the secretary of agriculture has been that the change in the ruling is for the sole benefit of this particular big manufacturer.

Other sugar producers, both cane and beet growers, naturally have not been so pleased with the prospect of having to compete with the grower of corn for the sugar market. And finally, the officials of the food and drug administration have opposed any change, on the ground that the pure food laws ought never to be altered—at least that is all I can make out of their argument.

Be that as it may, Secretary Hyde decided to cut the Gordian knot. He points out that refined corn sugar is precisely the same as any other refined sugar, just as wholesome, just as clean. It has been used for years in candy, in ice cream, and in meat products. It is only 75 per cent as sweet as cane or beet sugar, therefore more must be used to give the same sweetening effect.

So hereafter there will be an additional market for the farmer's corn, nobody knows how much—perhaps five million bushels a year, perhaps more. The market for cane and beet sugar will be diminished to the same extent. The food administration men are slightly peeved, but will get over it.

As for you and me, we will eat canned fruit, jams, jellies and things like that, and will never know whether the sweetening in them is dextrose or sucrose. If you are like me, you won't care.

U. S. Preserves
Primitive Areas
In Northwest

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 8.—Freemont, Lewis and Clark and the host of pioneers that followed their footsteps into the vast wilderness of the west less than a hundred years ago undoubtedly would have given a hearty chuckle had some prophet foretold that it would be necessary for the federal government to set aside sections of the United States as primitive forest areas for the preservation of natural growth and wild life.

But today such is the case and the Pacific Northwest is the first section of the country to have such areas designated and approved. These areas are located and named as the Mountain Lakes Primitive Area, Crater national forest; Mount Jefferson Primitive Area, on the Mount Hood, Deschutes, and Santiam national forests; and the Eagle Cap Primitive Area, within the Willamette and Whitman national forests.

The forestry department explains that these sections are to be kept as near their natural states as are physically and economically possible. No roads are to be built into such areas, and only such trails as are necessary for its protection shall be allowed. The few structures to be built must be constructed of native material.

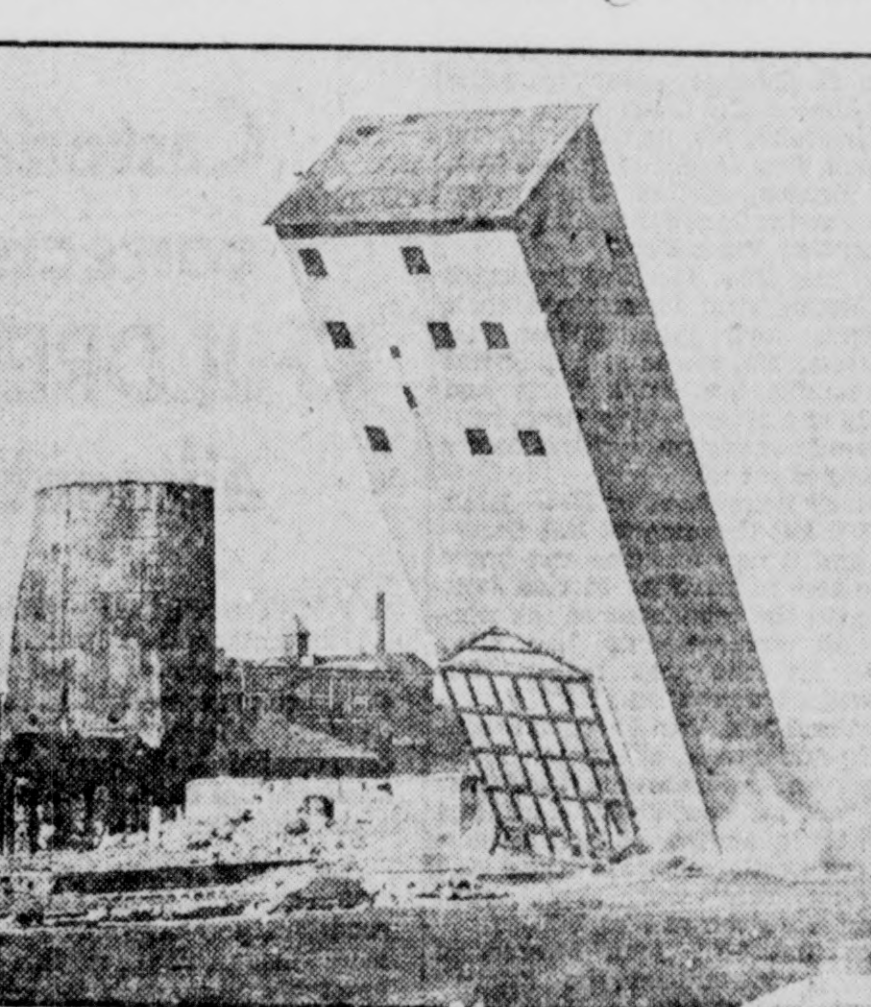

Of the three districts, Eagle Cap area is the largest with some 223,000 acres within its boundaries. The country is rugged as can be found in Oregon and contains a larger number of high peaks than any other part of the state. Only those who care to go afoot or on horseback will ever see this virgin wilderness.

Four rivers and twenty lakes contain a wide variety of fish while the woodlands furnish a last stand for bighorn sheep and small fur bearing animals fast becoming extinct.

A wide range of three species is to be found in the Mount Jefferson Primitive Area of 52,000 acres. Living glaciers cling to the sides of Mount Jefferson and feed nearly a score of small lakes around whose shores wild flowers of every species bloom in profusion during the summer.

The Mountain Lakes Area in southern Oregon is the smallest with 13,440 acres located on the Cascade divide. It contains forest growth typical of high elevations.

Bride Seeker Starts On Ocean Trip For Greece

Like Leander, the Greek youth of Aethydas who crossed the Hellespont to court Hero, a New Castleite, of Greek birth left the other day to cross the Atlantic with a firm intention of getting married and bringing back a bride.

But the local traveler to the scene of the trypt, the old port of Patras in Greece, must find the answer to a hard puzzle before he can get married and return to New Castle. He left this city Wednesday without even knowing who will be the bride to cross the ocean to the United States.

The bride-groom-to-be is one of New Castle's better known citizens of Greek descent, Costas Bragitikos, of R. D. 7, whose classic surname could fit any of his illustrious forebears.

Costas is 39, a track foreman of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a good one at that. He came to this country in 1909, and, if the accounts of friends are to be considered seriously, prospered during his stay in New Castle.

Late in 1930—November 25—he became an American citizen and recently obtained a leave of absence for six months to go to Greece "with the intention of getting married," according to the information he gave when applying for an American passport.

Then he filed a petition with the United States Department of Labor Immigration Department for a visa to enable his future wife to return to this country with him in the middle of this year. To Martin Leonhardt, travel agent in this city who compiled the information for the intended wife's visa, Costas could not furnish the name of his future wife.

The travel agent suggested a way to smoothen out the perplexing problem. Costas gave his promise to cable the name of the lucky girl to New Castle after the marriage ceremony had taken place. The petition with the name included will then be forwarded to the American consul in Solonika who will grant the visa.

Costas promised to have the name on hand in about a month.

When the Saturday of the Coughlin line clears New York harbor on January 10 it will carry among its most adventurous passengers one Costas Bragitikos, whose task of selecting a bride from the two ladies awaiting him will call for valor not unbecoming a true hero of ancient Greece.

To Present Class Play January 15

Mid-Year Graduation Class At Senior High To Stage "The Youngest"

The mid year graduating class at the Senior high school announces its class play for January 15. The production is to be a breezy comedy by Phillip Barry, entitled "The Youngest." Faculty and student committees are busy with the endless details of "putting on a play." Miss Clara Hartshoff as coach is arranging the last rehearsals with her excellent cast.

As befits a class play all of the players are chosen from the ranks of the graduates. The list shows a number of names already well known to those interested in high school activities. The high school celebrities who constitute the cast are as follows:

1931 Fish Licenses Sent To Counties

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—The 1931 fishing licenses are now in the hands of the county treasurers throughout the commonwealth. The board of fish commissioners urges all fishermen to take out their license as early in the year as possible so that its program covering the construction of new hatcheries can be carried on without interruption. The cost of the license is the same as last year, $1.60, when secured from any of the county treasurers.

The receipts for the year 1930 were the greatest of any year since the license has been in effect. It takes on an average of ten years to build up any license and 1931 will be the tenth year that Pennsylvania fishermen have been taking out a license. During the month of January the board will publish its statement covering distribution of fish for the last year.

Rabbits Received By Commonwealth

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—Of the thousands of rabbits now being received from Missouri for restocking purposes in depleted areas of the commonwealth, the rate of mortality has been exceedingly low this year. One officer reports only four dead animals in a shipment of over 800. Upon completion of shipments now being made, no additional rabbits will be ordered until next winter.

YOUNG WIFE TAKES POISON AT HOME

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Hugh Carr, 22, of 529 Pine street, is in the Sewickley hospital with iodine burns, said by police to have been self-inflicted. The woman, police say, drank the poison at her home.

Teachers Get Work In Penna. Schools

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—A report just tabulated by the teacher bureau of the department of public instruction shows that teachers graduated from Arts and Science college readily secure teaching positions. Of the 3230 teachers graduated from Pennsylvania arts and science colleges in 1929-30, 2109 secured positions to teach following their graduation.

The figures further indicate that 338 of the total number of graduates did not apply for teaching because they entered other lines of work. This reduction in the number of teachers who actually applied for positions to 2892. It shows the employment of 73 per cent of the available teaching supply.

These figures are a part of the larger report prepared for Governor-elect Pinchot's sub-committee on unemployment, and is an effort on the part of the department of public instruction to learn the facts in the unemployment situation as it affects teachers.

Castoria
corrects
ailments

WHAT a relief and satisfaction it is for mothers to know that there is always Castoria to depend on when babies get fretful and uncomfortable! Whether it's teething, colic or other little upset, Castoria always brings quick comfort; and, with relief from pain, restful sleep.

And when older, fast-growing children get out of sorts and out of condition, you have only to give a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation to right the disturbed condition quickly.

Because Castoria is made expressly for children, it has just the needed mildness of action. Yet you can always depend on it to be effective. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment and cannot possibly do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue, is fretful and out of sorts. Be sure to get the genuine; with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

Says Indians Did Not Settle Here

Owen P. Fox, In Phalanx Talk, Declares Belief Is Mistaken One

"New Castle and vicinity," in spite of what some say to the contrary, was not the habitat of Indians to any great extent," Owen Penfield Fox, local student of Indian lore, told the Phalanx, Y. M. C. A. fraternity, when he spoke before a throng of people at the Smithfield, England, last night. The meeting took place in the Y.

Mr. Fox, who had with him bows and arrows, tomahawks, peace pipes and other property of Indians, brought out that it is a mistaken idea that this was Indian ground. He said one or two tribes did settle here, but they weren't looked upon as the true American Indian by the more warlike tribes.

The membership voted to stage its third annual dinner-dance this year, and President Al Owens named Dean Staley, chairman; Alex Samuels and Elroy Lockley to draft plans. No date was set.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Child Expert Advises Firmness In Forcing Molly To Her Medicine

Physician's Time, Parents' Money Both Wasted If Prescription Is Not Complied With, Says Dr. Myers

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Molly has the measles. She is able to be up and play, but the doctor says that she must have some medicine. She is five years old.

"I'm sorry, Molly," mother says, as she approaches little Molly with the bottle and the empty spoon. Molly drops her doll as if she had been shot, screams, runs to the farthest room, enraged. Her mother follows her.

"Too bad, my dear, but the doctor says that you must have this to get well. Come, take it from your mother; be a nice girl, now."

"No!" Molly shouted, as she kicked the wall and bumped it with her head. The longer mother coaxed, the louder Molly screamed. At last the mother, with an aching heart, surrendered. In a few days Molly did not seem so well. The doctor was called in again.

"Go on with the medicine," he said.

"But doctor, Molly will not take the medicine," his face grew red; he burned inside with rage. But the calm physician answered courteously: "Why waste my time and your money just to fool yourself?"

How many a mother makes it hard for her child to profit from the advice given by the best physician! No one knows how many little lives are lost because of foolish practices like Molly's mother's; but the number must be very large. Certainly more little ones are lost from their refusal to take medicine than from too long delay in calling the doctor.

If medicine has been prescribed by your physician for the baby see that she takes it exactly as prescribed. Proceed as if you were helping the child put on her stockings, or to untie a knot in her shoe laces, without suggestion of fear or failure. If the child refuses, don't get excited. Don't coax or threaten her. Don't let your voice rise. Don't even use it. Say nothing. Put the medicine away and, unless there is an emergency, wait for 10 or 15 minutes. Then have another adult help. Let him pour the medicine into a spoon out of the child's sight. Then, without warning, quietly, but firmly, seize the child, restrain her struggles and have the other person put the medicine as quickly and as certainly as possible into the child's mouth in such a way that she will have to swallow it. No words are necessary.

Do likewise the next time the child should have medicine, and so continue until she requests to be allowed to take it on her own accord. Parents with good spines need have no misery like the misery of Molly and her mother over medicine.

Baby specialists have learned to concoct mixtures which, as a rule, are not very repellent. Sometimes their medicines have attractive scents and flavors. Better still, there are many doctors now who apply common sense psychology to the child and the parents so as not to arouse antagonism and fear but to lead the child to co-operate.

Plain Grove School News

VACATION OVER

The pupils of the grades and high school returned to school last Monday and have passed a profitable week of school, which other schools have not had. Good times and lovely gifts have been reported by all.

MID-TERMS

Mr. Brown and Miss Battley treated their pupils to mid-term examinations on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

CHAPEL PERIOD

Chapel was held in the gym on Friday instead of Thursday. After devotionals, Mr. Rainey gave a few announcements and then a pep meeting was held. The cheering was in charge of Robert Oakes. Mr. Rainey, Mr. Smith, Mr. Brown, Reed Thompson and Lillian Patterson gave short talks. The players were determined after this to beat Harlansburg—and did!

VISITORS

Miss Martha Crowe was a visitor on Wednesday.

Miss Gertrude Eppinger, one of the alumnae, visited several of the rooms on Thursday.

Miss Florence Wardle, of Grove City, visited with friends on Friday. Harold Matthews, of New Castle, was a Friday visitor also.

John Magee, a former pupil, visited a short time one day recently.

SICK LIST

Miss Allen was unable to be in school on Wednesday on account of illness.

Miss Kimes was absent on Wednesday afternoon from illness. Both she and Miss Allen were able to return Thursday.

CLASS MAGAZINE

The freshmen and sophomores combined under Miss Kimes, are putting out a class magazine. They are having some difficulty choosing a name for it. Several have been suggested but none have been found suitable.

BASKETBALL GAMES

During the vacation the teams motored to Harrisville where they broke even. The boys defeated their opponents 29 to 9 and the girls lost to the opposing setette 20 to 14.

Last Tuesday night the alumna girls met the high school girls in the gym. Due to the fast work of the high school, the score at the end of the first quarter was 25 to 3. In the last half the alumni rallied and brought their score up a little. The final score was 39 to 13 in favor of the varsity.

The school girls put up a fairly good fight considering the fact that they hadn't practiced much.

On the same night the varsity boys defeated a team from Grove City, 23 to 13.

The alumni boys defeated Pardo in a hard fought game, 25 to 23.

Friday night, January 2 was the date set for the first league game and it was with Harlansburg. The team members know that if they lost these games they dare not face the coaches, teachers, parents or friends and so they were bound to win. They went into the games fighting and didn't give up until the last whistle had blown.

Plaingrove led through both the games by a number of points. At the end the girls' score was 30 to 15 in Plaingrove's favor and the boys 28 to 17, likewise. The proud smiles on the faces of the coaches, parents and friends were reward enough for anyone, although they do want those little gold basketballs.

Perhaps the lights had some influence, as this game was played under the new lights. Lights had been placed in the rooms, and made a much more cheerful place.

Paper Tries Out New Check Plan

Check Given To Needy Must Pay A Bill Every 24 Hours

STURGIS, Mich., Jan. 8.—"Turn-over of money is the foundation of prosperity," the economist has been crying, since the business depression started. "Inactive money is the cause of depression."

But it remained for The Sturgis Daily Journal to put into operation a plan by which a $5 check is "turned over" 30 times a month and creates $150 worth of business. The Journal plan is as follows: A check for $5 will be issued to some needy family. The check will have space for 30 endorsements. Each person receiving such a check from the Journal, and each subsequent recipient must pledge himself to endorse it and spend it within 24 hours, within the city limits of Sturgis. The last recipient will endorse it in the last space provided for that purpose and may then cash the check at a bank.

Thus the original $5 will pass through the hands of 30 persons and figure in $150 worth of trade. The check may be used for any business transaction within the city limits.

If the plan works in this test, a campaign to issue checks for larger amounts will be started, and it is believed that thousands of dollars worth of new business can be stimulated.

Many Colors On License Plates

Statement Issued At Harrisburg Showing Colors Of Plates In Other States

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—For the information of those thousands of Pennsylvanians who pride themselves on being able to locate the home state of automobiles by a glance at the colors of the license plates, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles has issued a statement showing the 1931 color combination in the various states, as follows:

Alabama, orange on green; Arizona, black on orange; Arkansas, white on black; California, orange on black; Colorado, black on orange; Connecticut, white on maroon; Delaware, Colonial blue on old gold; District of Columbia, chrom yellow on black; Florida, white on dark maroon; Georgia, white on green; Idaho, white on black; Illinois, black on light green; Indiana, dark blue on orange; Iowa, blue on white; Kansas, white on green; Kentucky, white on green; Louisiana, white on Navy blue.

Maine, white on black; Maryland, white on red; Massachusetts, white on green; Michigan, red on black; Minnesota, white on black; Mississippi, white on yellow; Missouri, black on light gray; Montana, black on white; Nebraska, red on light gray; Nevada, black on orange; New Hampshire, green on white; New Jersey, white on red.

New Mexico, black on deep yellow; New York, black on yellow; North Carolina, yellow on black; North Dakota, tan on blue; Ohio, black on gray; Oklahoma, yellow on black; Oregon, orange on black; Pennsylvania, gold on blue; Rhode Island, black on white; South Carolina, light green on pearl gray; South Dakota, black on white; Tennessee, yellow on black; Texas, white on black; Utah, black on aluminum; Vermont, white on blue; Virginia, black on orange; Washington, white on green; West Virginia, old gold on black; Wisconsin, yellow on blue; Wyoming, green on light gray.

MILLBURN

Anna Mary, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mayne, who was so unfortunate as to break her arm, December 24, is now ill with scarlet fever. It is a light case and her condition is reported as satisfactory.

Ruth Brenneman returned to Ellport on Sunday to resume her duties as teacher of the sixth grade of that place after spending the Christmas recess with relatives here.

Mr. Union school, Anne Woods, teacher has reopened after a ten day's Christmas vacation.

Mr. Morrison of Sharon, who has purchased the farm formerly owned by Budd Robinson, moved his family to their new home last week.

James Patterson has moved into the house on the old Robt McKim place where he has erected a repair garage.

Philadelphia Has Many Gas Stations

Report Shows That Philadelphia Leads State In Number Of Gas Stations

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—Of 25,364 gasoline filling stations operating in Pennsylvania, 3379 are the property of individuals or corporations owning more than one station. Motor Vehicle Commissioner Benjamin G. Eynon announced today. Gasoline tax collections of the Department of Revenue are directed by Mr. Eynon.

Philadelphia, of course, has the greatest number of filling stations, 2157 and Allegheny county is second with 1755. Forest county is low with 45. Monaca next low with 50. Sullivan has 53, Pike 80, Union 84 and Fulton 85.

Four gasoline vendors paying tax in Pennsylvania have no stations in the State. They operate tank wagons, vending the fluid direct to consumers from whom they collect the tax. The quartet of dealers operates near the State line.

Commissioner Eynon reports that 236 individuals or firms operate the 3379 stations mentioned above as being parts of chains or strings.

An amateur statistician in the gasoline division figures that if each of 25,364 filling stations in Pennsylvania operates four pumps, and these 101,456 pumps were stationed ten feet apart, they would line a highway for 192 miles.

Group photographs will be taken of the Young Men's Industrial club of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. Varsity Wrestling club in the "Y" this evening at 7:30. Members of these organizations should arrive on time.

Movies Reproduce Polar Scene In Torrid California Desert With Miles Of "Snow" And "Ice"

Photo shows (1) scene from "Little America", showing dog team and ice barriers (of gypsum) and expanse of snow (cornflakes); (2) front view of fake plane, used in photoplay, equipped with wooden propellers and engines controlled by electric motors; (3) crash of the plane on the ice (gypsum).

(By Central Press) HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 8.—In semi-tropical heat, at an old government balloon school at Arcadia, near here, a motion picture company has succeeded in reproducing Admiral Byrd's "Little America"—snow, ice and all.

Corn flakes take the place of snow, gypsum substitutes for ice and a fake airplane crashes realistically to bring the Antarctic to Hollywood.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—One of the bunch asked the local assemblymen over in the speakeasy the other night just how long he could talk on a subject he didn't know anything about.

"I don't know," replied the worthy Brother, with engaging nonchalance, "about an hour or so."

"Something you don't know absolutely anything about?"

"Oh," said the assemblyman apologetically, "I didn't know what you meant. If it was a subject I hadn't the faintest knowledge of, I could talk anywhere from five to six hours about it. I misunderstood you."

OUR POOR MILLIONAIRES.

In the year that has just slid down the Greased Chute there were $20,000,000 worth of private yachts contracted for.

Also, we read that in the same period, high-priced cigars experienced a "contraction of output," while five-cent cigars showed an increase.

That means something; but not being an economist, The Pastor passes this gem of thought along for the consideration of Mister Roger Babson, of Babson Park.

HIZZONER 'AD-A-PINE.

A cop pinched an exhilarated Tammany Towner the other day and charged him with being drunk and disorderly.

"He was singin' on de street corner."

Swiftest Way To End Eczema

Says Alabama Man

There is not an excuse in the world for a person to suffer with fiery Eczema. Yet how many people do you see with ugly skins which spoil their whole appearance!

What you want to do is abolish every trace of eczema with Peterson's Ointment, for years nationwide famous for speedily ending Eczema.

Several of Admiral Byrd's dogs appear in these "snow and ice" scenes on the deserts. Arrangements had to be made to keep the huskies in refrigerators between shootings.

Captain Alton B. Parker, one of Admiral Byrd's pilots, arranged the technical details of California's "Little America."

Pretentious Set

The movie sets were among the most pretentious ever constructed.

ner, Yerroner, distoibin' de peace an' quiet of de neighborhood."

"I admit I was singing," said the prisoner. "I was happy; but I wasn't drunk."

"What was he singing?" inquired The Court.

"Sweet Ado-line, Yerroner."

"Guilty," said the Judge. "Ten dollars!"

RELIGIOUSLY MINDED.

Trading on the Stock Exchange last year suffered a reduction of about 28 per cent from the record of 1929 total; but...

More books on religion were put on the market in 1930 by New York publishers than the combined number of books on law, medicine, poetry, drama, history, travel and economics.

"The devil was sick. The devil a monk would be..."

ENCOURAGEMENT.

The electric light and power men say they are counting on spending $700,000,000 for additions and improvements during the year that has just dawned. The Government expects to shell out $800,000,000 in "new construction."

The steel industry, not to be outdone, has appropriated a mere $200,000,000 for something or other, $500,000,000 for disbursements.

And the Duchess says she's going to have last year's fur coat re-lined. Cheer up!

ONLY A MEMORY.

At the close of 1930 the Stock Exchange had 1,349 members. This is important because the old Stock Exchange looms large in the life of New York.

On December 1, 1929, there were 1,626 branch offices of member firms of the Exchange. At the end of 1930, the figure stood at 1,493.

Who sheds a tear for the 133 lost in the shuffle?

Ice barriers and ice packs made of wood and canvas and gypsum covered three square miles.

Two million five hundred pounds of gypsum was scattered over the set to make the "ice."

For six weeks the movie company, in Arctic clothing, toiled in the sun while filming the Antarctic scenes.

Part of the picture shows an airplane flight from Little America to the South Pole. The script calls for the machine to crash. Aviation executives prevailed on the picture studio not to crash a real plane, although the picture people were willing to buy a large tri-motor passenger plane and crack it up for "realism."

A duplicate tri-motor plane, accurate in external details, was therefore constructed. This the movie folk dropped on its nose on the imitation ice to represent a south polar crash.

So well did the gypsum serve as snow that on one occasion a large transport plane took off from it on skids.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

What are Copts?

Copts are the Christian descendants of the ancient inhabitants of Egypt. They are most numerous in the towns of upper Egypt, south of Assuit. As they usually live in towns and are rarely engaged in agriculture, they present a certain contrast to the Mohammedan peasants. They are, as a rule, of smaller stature than the latter and of lighter complexion. Most of the Copts still wear the black coat and black or blue turban which they were forced to assume in the time of the Mohammedan persecution.

What is the meaning of the word endemic as contrasted with epidemic?

Endemic is a term applied to diseases which affect numbers of persons simultaneously, but so as to show a connection with localities as well as with their inhabitants. Endemic diseases are usually spoken of as contrasted with epidemic and sporadic, the first term indicating that a disease infects habitually the population within certain geographical limits, and also that it is transferred or communicated beyond those limits only to a limited degree; while on the other hand, a disease is termed epidemic if it is transmitted without reference to localities; and sporadic if it occurs in isolated instances only.

Who was Gad?

According to the Biblical account, Gad was a son of Jacob and his concubine Zilpah, the eponymous ancestor of the tribe of Gad. This tribe was promised land on the eastern side of the Jordan on condition that they should help the other tribes to conquer the territory west of the river.

What is "pate de foie gras"?

Pate de foie gras is a dish, sometimes called Strasburg pie, resembling a very delicately seasoned pot-au-feu, greatly esteemed by epicures, and, as the name indicates, made of the abnormally large and fat livers of artificially fattened geese or ducks. The pates, ordinarily covered with rendered goose fat as a protection from the air, are usually marketed in earthenware pots. Strasburg and Toulouse are the chief places of manufacture. The fowls are fed and "stuffed" to repletion with salted maize, and by this means, the liver is increased to the unnatural weight of two, three or more pounds.

Supreme Court Deals Blow To Hoover's Plan

Hoover's Idea Of Making
Washington "Model
City" Receives Setback

SENATOR HOWELL HAS RIGID BILL

Supreme Court Hurls Criticism Against Dry Agents For Illegal Raiding

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The United States Supreme Court apparently has dealt a body blow to one of President Hoover's plans to make the National Capital "a model city" of prohibition enforcement.

When Mr. Hoover first advanced the suggestion that congress enact legislation to tighten up enforcement in Washington, at the outset of his administration, there was a chorus of approval from the dry organizations that have their headquarters here.

Senator Howell (R) of Nebraska, promptly introduced a bill making every Washington policeman a prohibition agent, and further providing that raids of private homes could be made upon the "suspicion" of two or more persons that liquor was illegally possessed in the home.

Violates Constitution
While Mr. Hoover never specifically endorsed the bill, it was generally accepted as an administration measure, and in his recent message to congress the President recommended that legislation "partially completed" to make Washington a drier city be finished at this session.

The search and seizure provision of the Howell bill, which is far more drastic than any yet proposed in congress, has been savagely attacked by the opponents of prohibition, and has even been criticized by some dries, as going too far. Its critics contend it violates the Constitution in this respect.

On Monday, the Supreme Court handed down a decision in the case of the Go-Bart Importing Company which deals with this very phase of search and seizure, and in the opinion of most constitutional lawyers would apply equally to what is proposed in the Howell bill.

Lawless Invasion
The Go-Bart raid was staged by Federal agents on a warrant sworn out on suspicion that there was violation of the law. Officials of the company were ultimately convicted of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws. They appealed on the ground the raid was illegal, and that their Constitutional rights had been abridged.

The court's decision was written by Justice Brandeis, who is considered one of the conservative members of the bench. He concluded that the action of the government agents in raiding the offices of the Go-Bart concern on mere suspicion, and seizing papers and files, was "a lawless invasion of the premises and a general exploratory search in hope that evidence of crime might be found."

Citing the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution, Justice Brandeis further asserted that "it emphasizes the purpose to protect against all general searches, since before the creation of our government such searches have been deemed obnoxious to the fundamental principles of liberty."

Bill Appears Doomed
"They are denounced in the Constitution of every state in the Union," he continued. "The need of protection against them is attested alike by history and present conditions. The amendment (Fourth) is to be liberally construed, and all owe the duty of vigilance for its effective enforcement lest there be impairment of the rights for the protection of which it was adopted."

Not in all the litigation brought before the high court since the adoption of the 18th Amendment, has the bench spoken so vigorously with respect to the necessity of maintaining inviolate the liberties against indiscriminate search and seizure guaranteed by the Fourth Amendment.

The consensus among legal authorities today was that the Butler opinion dooms the Howell bill, and that if Washington is to be made "a model city of law enforcement" it must be by some other method than liberalizing the search and seizure method.

Apollo Man Kills His Wife, Daughter, And Then Suicides

Paul Crawford, 15, Only Surviving Member Of Family; Was In School At Time

(International News Service)

APOLLO, Pa., Jan. 8.—When the mother of Paul Crawford, 15-year-old high school sophomore, asked him to bring some stamps home on his way from school yesterday, Paul obeyed cheerfully.

The stamps, he knew, were to be placed on letters to creditors, asking a little more time for bills that were piling up against the family, consisting of Paul, his parents, and sister, Eleanor, 17. The father, Blaine, a mill worker, had been out of work for weeks.

Today, Paul alone remains. Worried by increasing debt and lack of work, the father shot and killed his wife and daughter and fatally wounded himself. He died in the Citizens' General hospital at New Kensington last night.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Three Major Music Events Are Attracting Attention Of Organized Groups

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—Three major music events are attracting the interest of the organized vocal and instrumental groups of the high schools of the State during the present school year. Students from the glee clubs of about thirty of the high schools of Pennsylvania are entered in the National All-High School Chorus which will appear on the program of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association at Detroit, Michigan, during the fourth week in February, 1931.

About the same number of high schools will be represented in the Eastern States Music Supervisors All-High School Orchestra at Syracuse, New York, March 20, 1931. In addition, the glee clubs, orchestras, and bands of the high schools of the State are preparing to participate in the Fourth Annual State Contest under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Forensic League, which event will occur at Pittsburgh the first of May, 1931. These events are proving to be most interesting projects of the State-wide program of high school music.

Girl Scouts Make Report For Year

Scout Director Reports Many Activities Among Local Troops During 1930

Miss Nance Pugh, Girl Scout Director of New Castle, has reported many activities among the various troops of the city for the year 1930, including:

Nine leaders accepted the invitation of the Boy Scout leaders to attend the 30 hour First Aid Class given by the Red Cross.

An 8 hour Tenderfoot training class was held for new leaders. A rally was held in February of all the Girl Scouts in the city, with about 230 girls present.

Girl Scout window display

through the courtesy of the P. & O. The Girl Scout Council members and leaders association held a joint dinner party together.

May Day was celebrated with a breakfast-hike to Gaston Park for all the girls.

Representatives from the Girl Scout Council and some girls attended the opening of the Fred Rentz Camp this past summer.

The most successful camp season was held this past summer at Fred Rentz Camp with 97 girls attending.

The Girl Scout float won honorable mention in the Armistice Day parade.

Several troops helped with programs at Trinity and Highland U. P. churches.

In December the first attempt for a mass meeting of Patrol leaders was held and proved very successful. The New Castle Girl Scouts meet with the patrol leaders of Ellwood City, in the latter Little House at Wurttemberg.

The Girl Scouts have done much in the way of Community Service such as, giving baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas, giving clothing and toys, sewing for Jameson Hospital, putting out Tuberculosis posters, dressing dolls, caroling etc.

The director spoke before the following organizations: D. A. R., West Side P. T. Association, B. P. W., Trinity Parish, and Cottage Hill Womens Club, Beaver Falls.

Last year five new troops were organized later two were combined. Very late in the year two new troops were started but are not registered—or a total of 13 troops. We have 25 Girl Scout Leaders and 267 girls of which about 60 are not registered.

There are six Lone troops plus a new one that was recently organized in Zellenople to which our Council gives what assistance they can.

This Girl Scout year has been a most successful one.

Rep. Parker Has Fine Defense For President Hoover

ACTED RIGHT IN BIG RAIL MERGER

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—President Hoover was defended in the house today for his part in encouraging the four-system eastern railroad consolidation plan by Rep. Parker (R) of New York, chairman of the interstate commerce committee. He took issue with Senator Couzens (R) of Michigan, chairman of a similar committee in the senate, who criticized the president for publicly endorsing the merger before it had been acted upon by the interstate commerce commission.

Parker's explanation was accepted as that of the White House as he conferred with Mr. Hoover before the latter announced he had urged the roads to get together.

"Now what has the president of the United States done?" asked Parker. "He found the leaders of these four systems unable to agree as to the proper allocation of the smaller properties. There are a few strategic properties which two more of these systems want. There are several weak properties which none of them want."

"It is a case of some wanting the best and others wanting to wish off on competitors the less profitable lines. Again and again during recent years negotiations looking to a solution of these problems have failed. Through the good offices of the President, an understanding has been reached."

The President's action, Parker asserted, left the Interstate Commerce Commission "free and unhampered" to approve or disapprove the proposed consolidations. The mergers he said, would release millions for upbuilding of water properties.

Arrangements Made
"But for the differences in the proposals and the uncertainty of the final outcome of unification in the East, several hundred millions more would have been spent."

"Arrangements have been tentatively made for this capital. It should be released. Now is the one time of all times to set that capital free and let it go into the improvement of our railway properties and toward the employment of tens of thousands of workers who otherwise might be idle."

The four systems—New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio-Nickel Plate, Parker asserted, will continue to be in close competition with each other.

Balanced Output Of Oil Will Help Production Evils

(International News Service)
BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 8.—Members of the Pennsylvania Crude Oil Conservation Board today were formulating plans to prevent overproduction of the product during the next ten years by maintaining a balanced output of the supply.

At a meeting of the board held in Pittsburgh yesterday, a permanent plan for production, devised by R. T. Zook and R. M. Marshall, officials of the board from Bradford, was presented for consideration. Technical details of the plan must be completed before it will be placed before the board for final consideration. At present members in the organization are operating their wells on a curtailed production basis. Officials expressed the possibility of completing the plan for consideration by the board at its next meeting here January 23.

Forest Dorn, of Bradford, chairman of the board, presided at the meeting yesterday. The board controls a total of 70 per cent of all oil production in Pennsylvania, South-eastern Ohio and West Virginia.

Adirondacks Guide Is Indicted For Murdering Girl

(International News Service)
GENEVA, N. Y., Jan. 8.—The Steuben county grand jury today returned a sealed indictment against Lawrence Gyney, 24-year-old Adirondacks guide, up Tupper Lake, for murder in the second degree.

The indictment was returned in connection with the shooting of Miss Elizabeth Rofinot, attractive, young high school teacher at Bath. Miss Rofinot who was murdered on the evening of November 20 at a Lake Salubria cottage near here, was from Lowville, N. Y.

Widow Finds $15,000 In Rusty Tin Cans

SAGUACHE, Colo., Jan. 8.—Three rusty tin cans packed with $20 gold pieces, the hoard of Johnny O'Neil who for years was noted through this region as the "man who had more gold than any bank in the San Luis Valley" were found in the harness shop on his ranch.

O'Neil, pioneer miner, died three years ago without revealing the hiding place of his gold. His widow, Mrs. Drucilla O'Neil, intent upon restoring order in the cluttered shop found the cans reposing beneath a litter or harness and tools.

Mrs. O'Neil refused to reveal the exact amount of gold in the cans but it is probable that sum is more than $15,000. It is believed there is more gold hidden on the ranch.

Members of the immediate family heirs to the gold, besides Mrs. O'Neil are three daughters—Mrs. Eltra Tarbell and Mrs. Minnie Greger of Saguache and Mrs. Blanche Janson, of Portland, Ore.

Giant Spruce On Campus Is Dead

Tree Transplanted On Westminster Campus Appears Gone

STILL HOPE IT MAY BE REVIVED

There is a point beyond which all of man's ingenuity and skill is unable to pass, and this point seems to have been reached in the endeavor to save the giant Norway Spruce which has graced the campus of Westminster College for many a year.

Fire and transplanting seem to have combined to finish the splendid old tree which stands as an evergreen sentinel near the east door of Old Main Memorial. Tree food has been administered, it was watered daily during the drought, tree experts have done their best to save it, but slowly the old tree seems to be giving up the ghost.

Singed In Fire
On that memorable morning in January 1927, when fire razed Old Main, the Norway Spruce felt the force of the flames. One side of it was badly singed but it was thought that Nature would heal the wounds.

When the new memorial building was planned it was found that the spruce was inside the building lines of the new structure, and desirous of saving the historic old tree, Dr. Wallace made arrangements to have it transplanted.

Loving hands excavated around the tree carefully, as much of the soil around its roots as it was possible to save was saved, and with as much care as though it were a cargo of diamonds the tree was moved to its new spot.

During the excavation for the building a lot of heavy clay was thrown around the old tree, and after the grading was finished it was found that the tree would have to be planted deeper to conform to the grade of the lawn. Again it was taken out and again transplanted.

Perhaps it is impossible to give an old tree a new home. Once having established its roots in familiar soil, it seems that a tree will not prosper in new surroundings, and in the past year the old tree has been gradually dying.

Perhaps in the Spring when new life surges through the earth the Norway Spruce will be revived. Perhaps some miracle of Nature will be performed and the lovely old tree will again shoot out its stately green branches.

The loss of the old tree will be the loss of an old friend to Westminster students and alumni. For years its branches have provided a cooling shade on the campus. There was a dignity and a splendor about the old tree that seemed to be peculiarly fitted to the campus it graced.

Year after year it has grown and developed and its growth and development have seemed to be a pace-maker for the school itself.

Brest Monument To Honor U. S. Navy
Tower To Commemorate Heroism Of American Sailors In War

BREST, Jan. 8.—Officials of this port have sent invitations to General John J. Pershing, Ambassador Edge and officials of the Navy Department in Washington to attend the dedication July 4, 1931, of the great granite memorial to the United States navy's heroism in the world war.

The naval memorial is being erected in the Cours d'AJot. It will commemorate the gallantry of the men of the United States Navy.

It is reported that part of the American fleet in European waters will stream into the roads for the ceremony.

The memorial is a granite tower 135 feet high, resembling a lighthouse. The design was approved by the American Battle Monuments Commission. At the summit, an electric lantern which will be seen many miles at sea, will be erected. A public garden will surround the shaft. The cost is estimated at $125,000.

$3,000,000 SPILLWAY PROTECTS CITY FROM FLOODS

Spring floods have lost much of their terror for residents of New Orleans since the virtual completion of the Bonnet Carré spillway, 28 miles above the city. It will divert the waters of the Mississippi river into Lake Pontchartrain, when floods threaten the city. All that remains to be done on the $3,000,000 safety valve itself is completion of side levees from the spillway to the river itself, a short distance. Those to the lake have been finished. Photos show, top, an aerial view, and, below, a close-up from the river side.

Books, Not Beaux Interest Co-eds Declare Women

Resent Suggestion That They Go To College To Get Husbands

By RICHARD RANDOLPH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Col., Jan. 8.—Books, not beaux, interest girls at college. This, at least, is the conclusion of a group of socially prominent Denver young women after the statement made recently by Dr. Clarence Cook Little, former president of the University of Michigan, was brought to their attention.

Dr. Little, while in Paris, was reported to have made the following comment on current educational practices:

"I think it is a shame that state funds should be used for the education of girls who come to college only in order to meet marriageable men. They should be educated separately and along the special lines suitable to each sex."

"Boys and girls should be kept apart all through the lower schools, high schools and universities. In short, I think, they should be kept apart through the whole of their educational period."

"How perfectly absurd," Miss Mary Fliggen, former co-ed at the University of Colorado, remarked when shown Dr. Little's statement. "I should think Dr. Little would know that the average girl has passed the boy-crazy stage in her life before she goes to college. She enters college to get a degree, not to get a beau."

Alaine Meyer, who graduated from the University of Colorado last June, also disagrees with the learned doctor.

"That is a foolish idea—to believe that girls go to college with the hope of making a match," she said. "Believe me, if they do, they do not stay in school long because college work gives little time for courting. Naturally there are good times along with the hard work, but they are a side issue with the majority of college girls."

Mrs. Clyde Sargent finds that the former university president is at least partly correct in his opinion. "I think he is perfectly right," Mrs. Sargent declared, "but I guess I am being very honest when I admit it. College means good times to most girls when they enter. They usually select a university for the good times reputation it has and not for the scholastic advantages it offers."

"College to so many means good times, a sorority pin, eventually a fraternity pin and ultimately a marriage ring."

Mrs. Stanley Wallbank, prominent leader in the America Association of University Women, has her doubts about the modern educational colleges.

"I think times have changed greatly since I went to college, and I think it takes a mighty level-headed girl to cope with co-education," she said. "I am afraid the college girls today are not as serious-minded or as purposeful as they were when I was in college."

"It was a disgrace to flunk a subject at one time, and for that reason a girl if she had an examination the next day. But that studious characteristic seems to be lacking in the modern co-ed and she flunks she doesn't seem to care much."

Upholding the New Castle News as the "cleanest daily news sheet" published in the wide range of territory which he serves, Dr. H. J. Rose, synodical superintendent over 180 United Presbyterian churches in Western New York, Northeastern Ohio and Northwestern Pennsylvania, praised the newspaper highly during the course of a sermon at the First U. P. church, Glenmore

Nebraska Scene Of Massacre To Get A Marker

STAMFORD, Neb., Jan. 8.—The spot where Captain Buck and his party of Illinois surveyors were massacred by Sioux Indians near here is being sought so that a granite marker may be erected.

Buck, with 14 surveyors, recruited near Pontiac Ill., had encamped on Beaver Creek, south of Holliday, Neb., when Chief Spotted Tail, of the Sioux nation sighted the camp.

Suspecting an Indian uprising, Buck sent two of his party to Old Fort Kearney, on the Platte River, to seek protection for the surveying party. This was 60 years ago.

Spotted Tail surprised the Buck camp, slaying every member.

Buck fled, however, on a horse, was pursued by the Indians until he reached the fork of the Sappa creek. There the horse was shot from under him. He was caught, nearly and murdered.

Only a few belongings of Buck, not appealing to the eye of pilfering Indians, were left. These were found a few years ago.

Historians and pioneers now are attempting to locate the exact spot of the massacre so that the marker can be built.

Council Makes More Changes In Tax Valuations

Council convened today as a board of tax revision and at the suggestion of Councilman William T. Burns adopted an "about face" move and as the result each 1931 triennial assessment made in the second ward will be considered.

This means that regardless of whether or not a property owner made an appeal to the revision board the councilmen of which the revision board is composed will pry into the assessment.

The board had worked for several days revising the assessments but like Burns, realized that if property had been inequitably increased and no appeal had been taken out it was likely to receive no consideration.

In order to be fair with everybody and in the hope of establishing equitable assessments the revision board commenced its new labor today. The work will continue until the second ward is entirely finished.

It is probable that the changes made during the last few days will remain but they will receive another study as the board reaches them. The only 1931 assessments which were changed today for three years follow:

A. W. Andrews, Neshannock, building $11,000, cut to $9,000.
Thomas Anselmo, Boyles, building cut to $1400.
H. Aaron, Boyles, building $5300, cut to $5100.
Helen Ashmore, Emerson, building $3000, cut to $2880.
Helen Laurel, lot raised to $560, building cut to $3150.
George Atkinson, Emerson, house but from $5150 to $4670.
W. H. Aubel, Sheridan, house cut from $4650 to $4000.
Baer property, Quest, house cut from $2870 to $2000.
Baer property, Leasure, house cut from $7080 to $6210.
Thomas Bailey, Fairfield, house cut from $6050 to $5700.
C. Ralph, Fairfield, house cut $7200 to $6400.
C. Ralph, Cottage, house cut $3500 to $3200.
George Ralph, Hazelcroft, house cut $5600 to $4900.
Mary Ralph, Park, house cut $4370 to $4000.
Parker heirs, Garfield, house cut $4750 to $4500.
J. W. Barnes, Highland, lot $1600 cut to $1200, building cut $12,000 to $10,000.
J. W. Barnes, Park, house cut $6,500 to $6000.
J. W. Barnes, N. Mercer, building cut $17,500 to $1500.
J. W. Barnes, N. Mercer, building cut $5780 to $5000.

It was indicated today that when the revision board finishes its work the 1931 assessment will be approximately the same as in 1927 with a "shade" increase or decrease as the members of the board consider equitable.

In arriving at their figures they consider the 1927 assessment, the 1931 proposed assessment, compare the land and property to nearby properties, then express opinions and take action.

The board will reconvene this afternoon, having adjourned for lunch at noon.

Start Selection Of House Slate Committee To Dispense Patronage

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—While personnel of the house slate committee, which will dispense patronage in the lower chamber has not been completed, names of members already placed on the committee were announced here today.

Representative Joseph G. Steidle, Allegheny, is chairman of the committee. Other members named so far are:

Highway Bureau Postal Bill Big

HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—That the Pennsylvania Department of Highway is one of Uncle Sam's best customers is evidenced by the statement of its chief mail clerk, who reports the department bill for postage at nearly $25,000 for the year.

This does not include license tags etc. handled by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. More than 1,200,000 pieces of mail were sent out by the department during 1930 and nearly 1,000,000 were received.

In addition, messengers handled many thousands of internal documents within the offices. On a recent pedometer test one messenger walked seventeen miles a day.

Guidance Head Cites Advance Of School Plan

State Director, Dr. Holbrook, Dinner Guest Of Principals Here

EVENING'S PROGRAM HELD IN ELKS CLUB

Commending the principals of the Lawrence county high schools as well as their guidance advisors for the notable progress made since they inaugurated a new type guidance program here, Dr. Harold L. Holbrook, of Harrisburg, head of the guidance division of the Pennsylvania department of public instruction, spoke to a group of county school leaders following a dinner in the Elks home last night.

Dr. Holbrook, who was here when the plan was proposed at Institute time in the early fall came as a guest of the school authorities. His message was more a discussion talk than it was a formal address.

Thirty-two guests were seated for dinner, about 12 of them principals of county schools. The remainder were guidance supervisors with the exception of two music supervisors who were guests.

Anderson Presides
J. W. Anderson, East Brook high school principal and president of the principals' association of the county presided. He opened the discussion speaking briefly of the plan which the schools have started. Then he presented the state director.

Dr. Holbrook chose to speak more in an informal manner and at times was courteously interrupted while his listeners interrogated him on outstanding points. He made known that he was highly gratified over the results so far, although the new plan of guidance is just in its infancy.

It was clearly shown that the idea is new, but of the 25 counties now using it Dr. Holbrook said Lawrence is making good strides. He said he would volunteer his services at any time to help work out difficulties.

Taking part in the discussion with the principals and advisors was County Superintendent of Schools J. C. Syling, C. F. Ball, assistant superintendent who was unable to be present.

Principals Meet
Immediately after Mr. Holbrook concluded his remarks the group separated into two divisions. The principals met alone for their customary monthly conference while Dr. Holbrook and the guidance workers went into further discussion of the subject. Mr. Anderson also presided during the principals' meeting.

Aside from choosing definite dates for two critical and music eliminations for the six larger schools of the county, nothing but routine matters received attention. The following eliminations were planned:

At Union high on February 10, contests in reading, boy's solo, clarinet, piano and trombone.

At Mt. Jackson high on February 24, contests in orations, girls' solo, violin, clarinet, flute and cello.

Dr. Holbrook left for Harrisburg soon after the evening's program was over.

GOT ROPE FOR XMAS, THEN HER DIVORCE

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 8.—It took a Christmas present to win a divorce for Mrs. Teresa Zambarella of Ferndale from Vincent Zambarella in Judge Allan Campbell's circuit court here.

The woman, on the witness stand testifying, handed the judge a package neatly wrapped in green paper and tied with holiday ribbon. The judge unwrapped the package and found a stout 12-foot rope.

"That's this for?" he demanded.

"My husband sent me that for Christmas," said Mrs. Zambarella. She got the decree.

MILLS HOME IS REPORTED ENTERED

It was reported to the police last evening that some one had entered the third floor of the Mills home, 302 Boyles avenue. An investigation was made and while it was found that the place had been entered and the person there had left behind a cap, there was no indication of the place having been ransacked or anything being missing.

Toronto's New Mayor Polls Record City Vote

William James Stewart gave Toronto its biggest political surprise in many years when he was elected Mayor on New Year's Day by a majority of 381 votes. He defeated the experienced campaigner, Samuel McBride, who had two terms as the city's executive. The vote of 114,619 was the largest ever cast in the history of the city.

Objects To Work, Youth Expelled From Red Group

Compelled To Work 12 Hours In Mines; Calls It Dog's Life

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Jan. 8.—A Communist youth, Jacob Gleblin, son of a member of a Collective farm, who begged to be released from work in the coal mines of the Don basin, has been summarily expelled from the Consomol, the communist youth organization, and branded as an outlaw without the right to living in the public schools or earn a living in the employ of the state. Gleblin was one of 30,000 Consomols who were drafted for work in the mines to replace regular miners who slipped away to the farms or other industries.

Instead of leaving quietly as hundreds of his fellow Consomols, he stayed in the mines and wrote a letter to headquarters asking to be released. The letter read in part: "Dear Comrades: I am a Consomol mobilized for work in the Don Basin. The work is very difficult. I work 12 hours a day instead of 6, which is supposed to be the normal workday for underground laborers."

"I was attending a school for collective farm workers when the district committee of the Consomol drafted me for work in the mines. I agreed because I was told conditions in the Don basin were very good. But a few days later I changed my mind and decided I would rather continue my studies. But I was sent to the mines anyway against my will. It must mean that they don't want us young communists to study."

"I know mining is a necessary occupation, but it seems unwise that one who craves to study must break up his schooling. We don't lead the life of human beings down here. It is a dog's life, isolated from the world, working all night and sleeping by day. In one mine alone 300 Consomols deserted because they found work, food and living conditions unbearable. Please allow me to leave also and join the sophomore class at my school. With Communist greetings, Jacob Maximovich Gleblin."

The Consomol headquarters replied in part as follows:

"Your letter is an attempt to hide with a fig leaf the fact of a coward and a deserter. For four years, as you say, you were a Consomol and painted your face like a Communist, but now in the first battle you turned yellow. You joined the Consomols after the bloody fighting of the civil war, but when the economic front begins, when the whole country is crying for coal, you want to run away."

"Are conditions on the front good? Why did the Consomol throw 30,000 youths in the coal front if conditions were all right? You're looking out for your own skin. Must one stop learning, you ask? Of course, when the country demands it. Nothing stops you from going to a factory school (after 12 hours work). You talk like a class enemy. Deserter like you will not only be expelled from the Consomol but will be socially ostracized. And if they return home the newspapers will hold them up to public ridicule. If they are members of collective farms they will be expelled with a black mark on their employment record so that no other collective farm manager will give them a job. Only by long hard work will they be able to rehabilitate themselves."

Women May Smoke, Same As The Men In County Jail

Sheriff Johnston Don't Believe That Any Discrimination Should Be Shown

Women in the Lawrence county jail are allowed the same privilege to smoke as are the men, according to Sheriff Johnston. This statement was made this morning after he had been told of an attempt to stop women from smoking in the Cuyahoga, O., county jail, the attempt having been made by Mrs. Daniel Heubner, director of the National Tobacco League. According to Mrs. Heubner, no woman is as "spiritual" as she should be when she smokes. She also objects to women smoking anywhere, in jail or out.

Sheriff Johnston is of the opinion that if women are as spiritual as Mrs. Heubner thinks they ought to be, they would probably not be in jail.

It has always been the custom in the Lawrence county jail to allow women the same privilege to smoke as the men. Nearly all of the women who are sent to jail smoke cigarettes and some of them cigars or pipes.

MONGRELS ESCAPE AFTER WAGON SKIDS

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., Jan. 8.—The dark clouds of gloom which shut the sunlight out from the dog pound truck in which seven canines were going to their doom were dispelled with a crash when the dog wagon struck a floral truck on a slippery Denver street corner.

For a few brief moments the air was full of dogs and holiday decorations.

When George Senter, driver of the dog truck, regained his presence of mind after the crash not a dog was in sight. Bystanders reported that one of the dogs was last seen speeding down the street with a Christmas wreath draped about his neck. All seven mongrels were reported taken into homes far away from the dog pound.

Linguist Here Favors Esperanto For Use As Universal Language

Barely two years in this country and already speaking English remarkably well, Gregor Mockenhaupt, P-O appliance man, who is versed in the countless languages and dialects of continental Europe is a firm advocate for the universal use of Esperanto as a language of the world. Mockenhaupt is a native of Cologne, Germany. Still young and possessing a good understanding of various nationalities, characteristic of one who speaks more than one language, he believes the widespread use of Esperanto would lower the barriers of misunderstanding among nationalities the world over.

Esperanto has already been agreed upon by scholars everywhere as particularly suitable for a universal tongue, since it is a compound of words which are taken from the principal languages today. Mockenhaupt is especially versed in Slavish dialects.

Following the late war Mockenhaupt has made intensive travels on the continent, visiting the capitals and re-acquainting himself with the languages of the countries. He is convinced that the use of that Urso would be reported unjustly paid the money. He interjected while on bond. Police said Smith posed as a federal officer.

ROUTE 2 EANDITS WITH "HAYMAKER"

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—Two guns leveled at him by embryo bandits proved highly ineffective to Cornelius Bonner, manager of a rooming house here.

When two prospective roomers drew guns and ordered Bonner to give up the contents of his cash register, he planted a "haymaker" on the law of the nearest bandit. Down went the robber, and Bonner grabbed his gun. The other bandit, stung up Bonner's ability to punch, decided to leave rapidly.

Bonner held the first bandit until the police arrived.

"Scout Week" To Be Gala Affair Here Next Month

Support Of City Leaders Being Offered For February 8-14 Festivities

"Anniversary Week" plans of the Lawrence County Boy Scout council, expected to reach a climax February 8 to 14 when county troops join hands to celebrate the 21st year of scouting, assumed a more definite form today when Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green assured Scout Executive Herbert Horton of his co-operation.

The contemplated observance locally calls for six days of programs and other activity, during which the school, church, home and other sides of scouting will be extolled. Executive Horton has drafted a preliminary program.

A feature of the week is planned for February 12, Lincoln's birthday, when boys elected by the troop memberships take over the duties of county and city officers for one hour that day. It is the tentative plan to have boys occupying public positions from judge and mayor down.

Caucus Next Week
Friday, January 16, will see a general caucus of Boy Scouts at county headquarters for the purpose of drawing up party platforms and selecting candidates for the different offices which will be given over for the boys to rule Lincoln's birthday.

Voting power at the caucus will be vested as follows: Executive Horton points out: One delegate scout from each New Castle troop; with one adult "scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster or troop committee-man" will name city candidates, and one delegate and adult from New Bedford and New Wilmington troops will name county candidates.

The plan for boys taking charge of the various offices will also be followed in Ellwood City, where it is proposed to have the office of burgess and others under boy-rule for an hour.

Special days will be observed as follows:
February 8—Nationally, Scouts in Church.
February 9—Nationally, School Day.

February 10—Nationally, Parent Institution Day.

February 11—Nationally, International Day.

February 12—Nationally, Citizen's Day.

Former E. & A. Chiefs Go To Higher Positions; Another Resigns

RUMOR PITCAIRN TO BE ROAD PRESIDENT

Two former superintendents of the Erie and Ashtabula division, Pennsylvania railroad, now occupying high positions in different sections of the system, were included in the list of year-end promotions announced by the Pennsylvania board of directors at Philadelphia, Wednesday. Another resignation was accepted.

N. B. Pitcairn, for some time general superintendent of the Eastern Ohio division, with headquarters in Pittsburgh, yesterday tendered his resignation. It is believed in official circles that Mr. Pitcairn will shortly become president of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad, but no confirmation of the report was available.

Mr. Pitcairn's post will be filled by J. R. Rill, superintendent of the Philadelphia Terminal division, and Mr. Rill's place in turn will be taken over by Raymond Swenk, Cleveland division superintendent. Swenk was only recently superintendent here.

Wardrop At Chicago

W. M. Wardrop, superintendent here some time ago, but the assistant vice president of the road at Detroit of late, will be the new assistant to the vice president at Chicago.

The Pennsylvania promotions, probably the largest number made in a decade affecting the Pittsburgh district, came along with the announcement that J. F. Deasy would succeed E. W. Smith as vice president in charge of the central region at Pittsburgh. Mr. Smith relinquished the post to become a co-receiver for the Seaboard Airline road.

Prothonotary Fees Are Heavy

Mercer County Official Establishes Record During Past Year

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 8.—Turned into the county fund for the year 1930 by Prothonotary Daisy T. Morse is the sum of $10,904 which is the largest total in the 125 years of history of this court office.

The three years of the term of this official breaks all records for collection of fees. In 1928 the office turned over to the county fund $10,686.27, the 1929 return was $9,894.63.

Previous years records of the office covering a period of the last two officials show that the receipts of the office have been over doubled.

INSTALL DUMB WAITER
Dumb waiter service from the kitchen at the Childrens Home to the dining room is now being installed. The waiter is the gift of friends of the home.

MANY DOGS TAGGED
Dog licenses issued at the rate of 150 a day are reported by Treasurer G. R. McQuiston. The date of January 15th has been set by Agent Harry Hiebee as final for buying of the 1931 tags. After that date the caniness will be shot.

MANY HUNTERS IN FIELD
Ten thousand hunters tramped the woods of Mercer county this fall is the estimate of Warden O. A. Perschka. They shot 33,000 rabbits which was the big end of the game bagged. The birds shot would only number a few hundred. Eight deer were shot in the Hendersonville vicinity.

TRAPPERS ROBBED
Stealing fur bearing animals from traps and selling the pelts is the occupation of several lawless trappers caught by police.
Fur is at the lowest price of many years yet despite this reduction there is more trapping being done this winter than for many years.

MODERNIZE FARMS
This is the age of the telephone and radio on the farm. A complete farm report now being made up by Agent W. S. Hagar at the farm bureau that will cover six years of county farm history shows the annual increasing gain of these modern appliances.

The day when every farm house had its one to ten hives of bees is over. Bee raising is fast becoming a decadent art. The motor age has driven out the horses the report shows.

BUILD VIADUCT
A two track viaduct of steel 13 feet in height will carry the trains of the Bessemer Railroad company over the Perry highway where the two roads join in Cool Spring township. The work is being done now by 15 structural iron workers who are erecting 140 tons of steel in place to carry the heavy trains of ore on this route.

The highway will pass under the structure a 20 foot width. Work will be completed within two weeks.

The highway at this location was changed to make possible this overhead route of the Bessemer, eliminating a dangerous grade crossing which was ordered by the Public Service Commission and is estimated to cost $200,000.

Former Police Officer Is Held On Robbery Charge

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 8.—John Kohler, former police officer, alleged to have been implicated in several holdups, was positively identified today at the "show-up" at police station as the man who held up a store at 625 Oak Hill avenue, January 5, taking $528. Kohler police said, was only tentatively identified by Regine Norris in the $1,500 robbery at New Castle. Kohler, officers reported, after his arrest immediately asked to shave and Miss Norris said the man who greatly resembled Kohler had a heavy beard.

Father Of Local Woman Is Dead

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 8.—W. C. Hadley, first superintendent of the Buhl Club and a long time resident of Sharon, died at his home in Los Angeles, Cal., January 6, according to word received by local relatives. News of the death comes as a distinct shock.
Surviving are his widow and the following children: Mrs. Marie Corbett, Mrs. Bessie Roberts and Fred H. Hadley. Four sisters, Mrs. Loretta Bell of Greenville, Mrs. Guy Maxwell of New Castle and the Misses Alice and Clara Hadley. Deceased was also a cousin of S. H. Hadley of the P. H. C. Harry Hadley of the Gable hotel and Mrs. John Powers of Logan avenue.

Deep Well Solves Water Problem

CARROLLTOWN, Pa., Jan. 8.—Carrolltown and vicinity, suffering from an acute water shortage for several weeks, today was assured an ample supply of water when a well 208 feet deep, was completed. The well is producing 2,200 gallons of water per hour, which will be more than ample to relieve the shortage in this section of the northern part of Cambria county.

DEATH OF YOUTH IS DUE TO PRANK

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 8.—William Thomas Pettit, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pettit, 40, Hayes avenue, died in the Washington hospital as result of internal injuries received when air tubing was placed against his body while at work in a West Chestnut street service station. The accident the first of its sort to occur in this district resulted from a thoughtless prank. The young man was widely known.

Juniors And Seniors Meet In Annual Event

Council Of Jewish Women Have Annual Joint Meeting In Temple Israel Wednesday

It is a joy to witness such comradeship and co-operation as was evidenced between the junior and senior members of the Council of Jewish Women Wednesday evening as they met in Temple Israel for the annual joint meeting.
Mrs. Ben Kline, president of the senior organization, presided at the opening of the meeting, with Mrs. P. Levine reading the prayer. Mrs. Ted Marlin, secretary, gave a splendid report of the highlights of the year's activities, showing the organization has not been at all idle during the months that have passed. The report was received most enthusiastically by the women.

After the transaction of some club business Mrs. Kline introduced Mrs. I. Grossman, the senior advisor of the Junior Council, who greeted members of both organizations, then turned the meeting over to Dora Winnick, president of the Junior Council, who had the entertainment in charge. Miss Winnick most graciously thanked the members of the Senior Council for their invitation to meet with them; also for the co-operation they have had in the work of the society.
Miss Winnick introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Seth Wolfe, of Youngstown, O., past president of the Youngstown section of the National Council of Jewish Women; past state chairman of the Ohio state board junior advisory and prominent member of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Wolfe congratulated the juniors on their splendid showing in work since their organization and gave a splendid talk on the work of the junior order, telling what a great pleasure it is for her to work with the younger members, for they go about the work with a vim and vigor, attacking their problems with a confidence that leads to quick decisions and action. She further stated that the girls had definite obligations to themselves and to others that must be met and they must be assumed and carried out in the junior society in order to bring them into the more serious obligations when they are ready for the senior organization.

She stressed the fact that there is no particular credit due any member of an organization who just belongs, if there is no life, no action among the individual members, then the organization is one of stagnation; each one is to accept the obligations as personal.
She also dwelt upon taking up new ideas in the work as they come up with the advancing ages, but not to lose sight of the ideals; she advised the submerging of ego, but the exalting of individuality and the preservation of harmony, although the good of the order was not to be forgotten in keeping harmony.

Mrs. Wolfe told what splendid co-operation between the two societies is promulgated by these meetings of both juniors and seniors and advised that each organization consult with the other when problems of interest to both come up. The lack of understanding which exists today between a mother and daughter is the lack of interest in the same things, and as this is developed the unity of thought and comradeship will be firmly welded.

At the close of Mrs. Wolfe's address the junior president, Youngstown, Ruth Greenwood, greeted the New Castle members and extended an invitation to the local councils to attend their meetings.

Miss Ruth Drescher most beautifully sang, accompanied by Mary Lowe. Her group of numbers included "Long, Long Ago," by Turner Salter; "Iris," by Wolfe, and "Trees," by Rasbach.

Betty Glover in her own inimitable manner, gave two readings that received most hearty applause.
Closing the program the hostesses, Mrs. T. Marlin, Mrs. A. Markley, Mrs. M. Newmark, Mrs. I. Myers, Mrs. J. Moresky, Mrs. L. Miller, Mrs. J. Menkes, Mrs. A. Marlin and Mrs. P. Levine, took charge, and setting long tables, served a delicious lunch.

Trio Arrested As Conspirators

FARRELL, Pa., Jan. 8.—John Balbach borough councilman, Andrew J. Podolsky, undertaker and Rudolph Milch, well known local resident will be arraigned before Justice William Broderick Friday on charges of conspiracy and obstructing justice.
They were arrested yesterday by Corporal Marcus White of the Mercer detail state police, upon information preferred by County Detective S. R. Leyschack. Each furnished $1,000 bond pending the preliminary hearing.
The charge grew out of a liquor case.

Did your Child have a bad cold last week?

If your child had a bad cold last week, don't be content just because the child is no longer hacking and sneezing. A cold is bad enough, but a child that catches cold easily and often, needs attention.
Half-sick, pale, run-down children do not have the strength to resist disease and throw off infection. The after-effects of a cold can be very serious. Start now to build up weight and strength.

Father John's Medicine has been proved for over 75 years by countless mothers. It is used regularly by over 184 institutions and hospitals. It is a simple food medicine that supplies the vitamins that every child needs. Children thrive on it amazingly. Their appetite improves, their very food seems to do them more good. Pale cheeks glisten with health. Little bodies become strong and vigorous.
Father John's Medicine is a combination of simple food elements, none of which could harm an infant. Because of its scientific combination of ingredients it brings all the benefits of cod liver oil in the form best suited to a growing child's needs. It is easily assimilated by even the most delicate stomach. It tastes good and contains no alcohol or drugs.

If your child had a cold last week, start now with Father John's Medicine. Don't take needless chances when this simple aid will help build strength and vigor. All druggists have it.

Places Better Health Within Reach of All

Herbal Medicine Being Used by Thousands With Amazing Results—Vital Organs Helped—Entire System Strengthened in Many Cases.

Following the recent announcement that the Nu-Erb man is now located in New Castle at Eckerd's Cut Rate Store, hundreds of men and women suffering from various health troubles have called to talk with him and learn about this new and different medicine, which is meeting with amazing success wherever it is introduced.

"It is surprising the vast number of persons throughout this vicinity who are suffering from some ailment from which they have failed to obtain relief," says the Nu-Erb Specialist. "I invite every such person to call on me and take advantage of my generous offer to present them with a trial bottle of my new herbal medicine, and I have full confidence that after using this preparation for a few days they will be not only surprised with the results, but find themselves enjoying a new feeling of health."

THE NU-ERBS MAN

Nu-Erb cleanses the system of poisonous waste matter, and after a few weeks' treatment the vital organs respond with renewed strength and activity; particularly is this true of the stomach, liver and bowels. Weak and undernourished, these organs are often the cause of untold misery. Nu-Erb speedily cleanses these organs of impurities, toning and regulating their action until they and the whole system responds with vigorous, glowing health.

"For several years I was in a weak, nervous, run-down condition," says Mr. Chaney Ryan, 424 First St., Niagara Falls, N. Y. "I felt tired and worn-out all the time, couldn't sleep nights, suffered from staggering, dizzy spells, severe headaches and indigestion.

"Nu-Erb has rid me of each one of those troubles, and now, after using only a few bottles, I am feeling strong and well again. I sleep fine now, have a good appetite, and the dizzy spells, indigestion and nervousness have disappeared. I heartily recommend this medicine to those who suffer as I did."
Eckerd's Cut Rate Store, is the only place in New Castle where Nu-Erb may be purchased. Go see the Nu-Erb Man now located there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine. Trial bottle given free.

Davis is believed to have been with Shaffer on the same freight train, but he has not yet been located.

CAR PLUNGES OVER BANK; DRIVER HURT

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 8.—Henry Hobart, 35, of Girard, was in a critical condition in the City hospital last night, suffering from a fractured skull received when his automobile skidded on the icy East Liverpool-Youngstown highway and plunged over an embankment. Arlington Lodwick, 40, a passenger, was unhurt.

The gas that makes your dollar go farther

the new ATLANTIC

WHITE FLASH

EXTRA QUALITY IN EVERY ESSENTIAL
NO EXTRA COST

JUST what is economy in gasoline?

First, there is mileage. You want a gas that will give you most miles to the gallon. On the open road... over hills... in crowded city traffic, ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH does that. Keep a record for a few days, and you'll be amazed at the high mileage you get with this sensational new motor fuel.

But there is more than just mileage to consider. Gear-shifting, for example. Running in second gear is costly; it burns up a lot of gasoline unnecessarily. ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH gives you so much power, flexibility and flashing pick-up that it virtually ends the gear-shifting nuisance.

Even more important, however, is ease-of-starting. If your car is slow to start with the motor fuel you are using... if you have to turn the starter over again and again, and the engine "dies out" on you several times before it finally snaps into action... you are wasting not only gasoline but your battery as well! ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH is famed even above other things for its qualities that make for quick-starting and a shorter warming-up period.

These are among the reasons that cause people to say ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH is the most economical motor fuel you can use. Even if it cost more, it would still pay you to buy it; but it sells at regular-gas price! It is the scientifically developed fuel for the modern automobile engine. Crystal-clear in color; with no unpleasant odor, a very important point if you drive a closed car. Try it today. Show your family that you can save money—and at the same time get better performance out of your automobile than ever before!

Manhattans Top Charleroi Team In Fast Battle

Last Half Rally By Manhattan Team Causes Defeat For Powerful Charleroi Five

FINAL SCORE OF GAME IS 39 TO 34

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—The Manhattans used out a 39-34 victory over the league upstarts, Charleroi, last night at the Shelby auditorium. The invaders had nearly caused an upset when they defeated the strong league-leading Pinter Club last Saturday. Pinter needed this victory to clinch honors for the first half of the Allegheny County League. But this setback necessitated a victory over the Charleroi, which was accomplished after an extra period. So the Charleroi five had developed into a team to be reckoned with. This proved to be the case here. The teams were alternating in taking the lead for three quarters, when finally in the last stanza Fitzgerald sent the ball through the hoops from the middle of the floor, taking a 33-32 lead. The locals remained in front after this until the final whistle.

The Manhattans started out as if they were going to end the game as quickly as possible. In quick succession Fitzgerald counted a basket and Lloyd two more and a foul, but the invaders stopped this sudden spirit and commenced one of their own which produced a deadlock. Ellwood called time out to gather itself together and stop the enemy onslaught. Immediately after the first scrimmage upon resuming the game again Lewes sank a foul and put the local five out in front. Pollock of the visitors retaliated and the quarter was deadlocked, 8-8.

The second period was more fruitful for the local passers. After the ball had interchanged hands for a lengthy period Bair sank a fancy shot from a difficult angle on the floor. Leyda followed suit with a sensational one-hand shot from the sidelines. Dvornak sank a two-pointer for the visitors, but Leyda overbalanced him by accounting for a pair of goals and a foul. Then Drotar and Pollock talked from the court for Charleroi. Lloyd immediately added a basket to the Ellwood cause and the half ended, 19-14 in favor of the locals.

The third and fourth quarters were hair-raising. It was a struggle for the lead. First one and then the other would be out in front. No sooner one was in the lead than the other broke it. At the beginning of the third period Pollock and Dvornak sank a bucket apiece and the game was tied, 26-26. Then the battle royal commenced. Dvornak broke the deadlock with a two-pointer and Bair put it on even terms again. The former repeated his feat, but Lewes tied it up for the second time. Lewes placed the Manhattans in the front with a bucket and Drotar deadlocked the game again. The latter counted up a foul and so did Lloyd, the score standing 26-27. Drotar registered from the court and Bair slipped in and deadlocked the game for the last time. Dvornak repeated and the quarter ended with a 39-32 score for the visitors.

The last period was just as exciting, having the audience on keen edge till the final whistle. Dvornak had added to the invaders' lead with a basket. Bair duplicated and Fitzgerald contributed a foul, thus coming within one point of Charleroi. Then Fitzgerald sank his beautiful shot from mid-floor, which put the locals out in front with a 33-32 score.

Tach and Bair added a two-pointer for their respective teams, making the score 35-34. A basket apiece by Fitzgerald and Bair put the game in the hands of the locals.

Upon obtaining this lead the Manhattans, in order to be on the safe side, played the remaining few moments "for time." The final score was 39-34.

Coch Glenn Stahl of the Manhattans, formerly a star in the Shelby professional team, had mustered his full line-up with the exception of Delhanty, for this game. This was his first debut here and he is greatly satisfied with the fine showing the boys made. He had tried out several combinations in the game last night and has now definite plans to work with in the future.

Line-ups: Manhattans Charleroi
Bair ..... F ..... Drotar
Lloyd ..... F ..... Pollock
Leyda ..... C ..... Dvornak
Lewis ..... C ..... Klein
Fitzgerald ..... C ..... Sauers
Substitutions: Manhattans—Clark for Bair, Nesbitt for Leyda, Tach for Nesbitt, Latiano for Fitzgerald; Charleroi—Wonderlich for Sauers, Reieree: Wallace.

Ellwood Traveler Returns From Trip To Western Coast

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Ernest Herrin of Ewing Park, who will be remembered as Blanch Nagel, arrived home last evening from a visit with her uncle, H. R. Cunningham, in Glendale, Calif.

Mrs. Herrin reports a very wonderful visit, saying: "I left Ellwood City November 2, accompanying my uncle, H. R. Cunningham, on his return trip to California. We made stop overs at Chicago and Keokuk, Iowa. From Kansas City we traveled via Western Air Express, left Kansas City at 8:40 a. m., arriving in Los Angeles at 8 p. m. same day. During my visit I took many trips which privileged me to see a great number of very interesting places, a part of which includes Whittier, Santa Ana, La Jolla, San Diego, Tia Juana (old Mexico), Tecumeca, Escondido, Elsinore, Riverside, the Old Heights, San Bernardino, Pomona, Pasadena, the beach cities, Mt. Wilson, Catalina Islands, Little Church of the Flowers, Bakersfield, Sequoia National Park, Fresno, Yosemite valley, Oakland, San Francisco, San Jose, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Los Angeles. The orange and walnut groves of southern California were very impressive."

"As my stay was made with my uncle and aunt, who live at Glendale, I naturally became very much attached to that beautiful city. The Christmas decorations in the west were wonderful, especially Christmas Tree Drive. In referring to the General Sherman tree, located in Sequoia National Park, and which measures more than 37 feet in diameter, will say one must actually see this huge giant of the forests in order to appreciate its size. All places visited, natural scenery presented itself most gorgeous in the Yosemite valley. On New Years day I attended the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena; this sight is beyond description. After the parade I took in the football game at the Rose bowl, where I saw the Alabama boys defeat the Washington team. Last Sunday morning at 9:45 I left for Los Angeles for home, coming via Santa Fe to Chicago."

Mrs. Edrye Moyer Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—Miss Edrye Moyer of Wayne avenue entertained the members of the Modern Bridge Club in her home Tuesday evening. A special guest was her sister, Mrs. James Fitzgerald.

Three tables of bridge were in play and at the conclusion of the evening series of games, score honors went to Mrs. Donald Northrup and Mrs. George Kay, with a guest favor to Mrs. Fitzgerald.

Later delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. P. Moyer and Mrs. Boyd Zeigler. The next meeting of the club takes place January 17, at the home of Mrs. George Kay of Third street.

Success Attends The Leadership Training

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—With an increased enrollment over the opening night last Monday, the Leadership Training classes went forward last night, with a number of visitors present at the M. E. church. ## Marcellas Lose To Reserves In Game At Ellwood

Manhattan Reserves Drop Marcellas Team Of New Castle By Count 26 To 13

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—The Manhattan Reserve played their usual quality of basketball and gave the Marcella Grocers a 26-13 drubbing in the Shelby auditorium last night. They have come out on top now in seven starts and propose to keep their slate clean.

The Reserves were never even really threatened once. They controlled the game much to their liking. The local team's diversified passing attack baffled the Marcellas as much as it did its predecessors. The first quarter was well on its way before Ursu of the Reserves registered from the court for the first score. Both quintets were content to play defensive basket ball this period. Clyde followed suit and accounted for two goals, and the quarter ending 6-0 in favor of the locals.

The ensuing period was more productive in scoring. Ursu as previously started the scoring for the period, when he recovered the ball under the basket and put it through the hoops. Then Clyde, his teammate dribbles through a maze of opponents and accounts for a two-pointer. Immediately following Ursu and Freidhoff got a pair of double deakers and Lawrence, who entered the play for Justine accounts for a basket. It seemed as if it was going to be a shut-out for the invaders at the half, but Marino and Parker managed to score via the free throw line. The locals had the score 20-2 at the end of the half.

The third quarter was uneventful with extensive out-of-bounds and jump ball called by the referee. Marcella managed to send a field goal and Richards a foul for the visitors, while Clyde contributed a field goal for the Manhattan cause in this period. The score now standing 22-5 for the Reserves. In the final stanza the invaders made their last stand. They outscored the locals 8-4 but it was far too late. DeThomas got a pair of buckets, which was duplicated by Freidhoff and Marino and Maello each registered from the court for the invaders. The final score being 26-13.

52. George Rogers Clark—Disaster At Blue Lick

BY 1781 THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR HAD COME TO AN END IN THE EAST, BUT THE WESTERN SETTLERS WERE STILL ENGAGED IN A DEATH GRAPPLE WITH THE INDIANS. GENERAL CLARK WAS ORDERED TO BUILD FORTS AT STRATEGIC POINTS ALONG THE OHIO, BUT HAD NEITHER THE MEN NOR THE FUNDS TO COMPLETE THIS WORK.

IN THE SUMMER OF 1782, A HORDE OF INDIANS SWOOPED DOWN UPON THE FORT AT BRYANT'S STATION, KENTUCKY, BUT WAS BEATEN OFF AFTER A BLOODY BATTLE.

A SMALL BAND OF IMPETUOUS SETTLERS, LED BY SEVERAL COUNTY COLONELS, STARTED AFTER THE RETREATING HOSTILES. AT BLUE LICK THE PURSUERS WALKED INTO A CUNNING AMBUSH AND WERE ROUTED WITH A LOSS OF SEVENTY MEN.

CLARK GATHERED A FORCE OF MORE THAN A THOUSAND KENTUCKY RIFLEMEN, BOILING FOR REVENGE, AND MARCHED INTO OHIO, DESTROYING THE REDSKINS' TOWNS AND CROPS IN RETALIATION.

Senior High Football Squad Is Feted On Wednesday Evening

A SAD, SAD STORY

Record Of Great Team Is Cited By Many Speakers
Banquet Is Held In Cafeteria Of Washington Junior High

One of the most successful banquets held in some years was held on Wednesday night in the cafeteria of the George Washington Junior high school when members of the New Castle high school football team of 1930 were honored for their splendid accomplishment on the gridiron the season just ended.

The event started with a delicious supper and wound up with dancing which was in vogue until a late hour.

Due to the illness of James K. Love who was to act as toastmaster, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner undertook the job. Mr. Gardner proved every bit a good toastmaster. He introduced and commented on the speakers like a veteran. Approximately 125 attended the banquet.

Open Program.
Following supper, the speaking end of the program got under way. The first speaker introduced by Toastmaster Gardner was student manager David Brewster. Brewster described the team, the season, and the spirit of the people which was good.

Dick Thomas who played fullback was next called on for a few words. He complimented the team. Mr. Gardner and the coaches.

He also said that in defeating Turtle Creek, New Castle redeemed itself of the defeat at the hands of Washington.

Assistant Coach William Klee followed. He said that the squad last season was the nicest group of boys in a number of years. "The material was green but the willingness on the part of the boys to learn carried them through," Klee cited.

In closing Klee wished the boys who graduate the best of luck.

Toastmaster Gardner next introduced Principal F. L. Orth of the high school. Principal Orth spoke on the eligibility rules of the W. P. I. A. L. He said that this league is probably the biggest in Pennsylvania having over 140 schools. He congratulated the team, saying that the eleven last season proved a surprise to him. He also complimented the coaches.

William Broadbent, student manager, was next introduced and said a few words. Broadbent told of the hardships of a student manager. Following his speech Toastmaster Gardner commended the student managers.

Hoose Speaks.
The next speaker on the program was Robert Hoose, who played center. Hoose stated that the fellowship which football develops is something great.

George Thomas, assistant coach, was called on. Mr. Thomas said that in his six years of experience as assistant coach at the high school, he has never seen a better squad of boys report for football than the one that turned out last season.

Mr. Thomas congratulated the second and third teams, saying that it is the team that opposes the varsity night after night which enables the first team to get into condition for a game. Thomas also complimented Captain McAuley and Luther Rowe, who played during the latter part of the season.

Dr. H. E. Zerner was introduced to the gathering next and said a few words. Dr. Zerner said that this game of football has Americanized. He showed an example of this by using Notre Dame. He said that practically on every team there are different nationalities as well as characters. Football has done a great thing in Americanizing. Dr. Zerner cited.

He also said that the facilities and support here are good. He said that the opportunity at the local school is excellent.

Toastmaster Gardner called on Daniel Woolcock president of the School board for a few words. Mr. Woolcock said that the 1930 football team was one of the greatest eleven turned out and that every one feels proud of the boys.

Captain McAuley Speaks.
Regis "Red" McAuley, captain of the team was next called upon. He said that the experience he has acquired here is wonderful. He paid a tribute to Coach Bridenbaugh, the assistant coaches, and closed by saying that it is a thrill to lead a team. "The boys have given the citizens of this city the biggest entertainment during the past season that has been given in a number of years," said Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools who was the next speaker. He said the entertainment was enjoyed and appreciated. Dr. Green commented on the splendid equipment which the football players receive at the high school.

He said that he was glad to be present at such an event honoring such a great team. In conclusion Dr. Green cited that he will always give his hearty support for football. Toastmaster Gardner called on LeRoy Turk, a member of the team for a few words. Turk thanked the team for co-operation.

The next speaker was A. C. Hyde a member of the School Board. Mr. Hyde said that it was a pleasure to be present at such an event as this and spoke in a pleasing vein concerning the team.

Following Mr. Hyde's talk Toastmaster Gardner introduced Fred Fabian, who was injured during a practice game and underwent several operations before recuperating.

Coach Speaks.
The next speaker on the program was Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh. Mr. Bridenbaugh described the season and said that the team last season played six major games, two more than any teams have ever played at the local school. The team spirit was present last season," Bridenbaugh said. He used the South, Raymer and Turtle Creek games as examples saying that these games might have been lost but the spirit that existed had a large share in the victories.

Coach Bridenbaugh cited that the Washington game was a tough one to lose. The loss of Fabian was another serious blow to the 1930 eleven. He paid a tribute to Luther Rowe, LeRoy Turk and Robert Hoose who proved three of the hardest working boys he has encountered.

"Success of last season's team did not depend on one star, because we did not have one," Bridenbaugh said. He paid a fitting tribute to Regis McAuley. He said that it takes concentration in football. The quarterback position in Mr. Bridenbaugh's opinion is the hardest one due to the fact that it depends on this individual to lead, direct, and command the team.

Mr. Bridenbaugh said that he was sorry to see the boys depart. The local coach said he wishes the graders leaving, much success in later life. In speaking of next season's team he said that New Castle should have another good team considering the material from this season which will be back next fall.

He thanked the assistant coaches, student managers and Mr. Gardner for the co-operation in his closing remarks.

Toastmaster Gardner closed the talking program by thanking the special guests for attending the event.

Following this dancing was in vogue until a late hour in the cafeteria of the school. Music was rendered by a group of youngsters from the George Washington Junior High School and senior high.

The banquet proved one of the finest held in some years.

Those present included, the football players and their girl friends, officials of the school and their wives and others.

Bowling Congress Data Is Received

J. D. Thompson, secretary of the New Castle City Bowling Association, announces that entry blanks for the coming tourney have been received here, and may be secured upon request. Blanks and posters telling of the 31st renewal of the American Bowling Congress to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., have arrived.

Plans are under way to make the Congress this year as great if not greater than the one held in Cleveland last year. There will be thirty-two new Brunswick-Balk Callender alleys installed in the Buffalo Broadway Auditorium. The Bowling Congress promotes the tourney which is the largest athletic event in the world. Bowlers will spend exactly one and a half months in topling the pins to find out the 1931 champions.

All teams entering the tourney, must do so through the local Association in each city and must be registered not later than February 1. Quite a lot of interest is being taken locally in the Congress this year, and there will likely be a lot of teams from New Castle compete in the tenpin events. Anyone caring to learn more about the Congress can get in touch with Charles Clark, president, or J. D. Thompson, secretary.

Tobias Friends Claim He May "Kayo" Davies

Although Willie Davies has been floored only a few times during his five years of boxing the friends of Phil Tobias who are legion here are speculating as to the chances Tobias has of putting the Chaleroi marvel to sleep. If he can accomplish this feat he will become the rage of the flyweight universe as many have tried and failed to accomplish the task.

Some of Phil's admirers believe that he has Davies number and that Willie consistently ducked a meeting until he no longer could play the policy safely and continue in good graces of the fans. On the other hand, Davies supporters here are chirping and claim that Willie will "take" Tobias like "Grant took Richmond."

"Tobias is a husky kid, a rugged puncher and has oodles of stamina but he lacks the polish that Willie possesses," declared a Davies exponent of the Art of Hit and Make Em miss last night. "I expect Willie to stab Phil so often he'll be punch drunk before the end of the fight."

May Trap Davies
There is no question but that Willie's left hand is going to flit out fast and often but if Tobias right can beat Willie's left and it lands on Davies jaw like it landed on Ernie Peters, Mr. Davies son, Willyum is likely to go down. But Davies is a shrewd boxer, not so easily hit and it appears Phil's hope lies in aggressiveness.

It wouldn't be in the least surprising were he to spring like a panther from his corner in the first round and endeavor to beat down Davies guard or force him into a corner, cognizant of Willie's ducking on the ropes, and attempts to land hooks which Davies tries to wiggle out of a tough spot.

The coming fight set to is not an ordinary boxing bout. Rather it is a meeting between two high class artists of the flyweight division. As Tobias holds a decision over Davies the Welsh-American chap will be anxious to reverse the decision on the Brooklynite. There's one thing sure, there'll be plenty of color to the clash.

Joe, the Adonis
Twenty years ago Al Reich, a heavyweight was called the Adonis of the ring. Today the fans who glance at Joe Midway give him that title. He's a fair-skinned, blonde with lithe muscles, a knockout punch and oodles of backbone. He'll need the punch and backbone when he fights Nick Adamo, the firebrand in the six round semi-final at 163 pounds.

Lefty Arnold, known in the family dining room under another name and a few years ago a prominent Class B school football player will return to the ring to try and stamp the progress of Lefty Badger. Arnold is a southpaw and has only lost one bout. Badger is rugged, gave Russell Powers a terrific fight and wants to test Arnold in their six rounder.

They are welterweights and will follow Walter West and Johnny Banko into the ring. These boys have never milled in a pro' battle and the punchfest has been limited to four rounds. Roy Minter, the sorreltop who beat the Chink, Long Sing Que, will oppose Billy Mido, 118 pounds, in the opening preliminary bout.

Report Proves Wrong
A few days ago a report was chronicled from Chicago stating that Tobias had been defeated by Georgie Nate. The truth of the fight is in the December 31 edition of the Chicago Daily News and that newspaper declares that Tobias was the victim of a bad decision at the Coliseum.

This is what the Daily News writer reports: "Phil Tobias of Brooklyn was the victim of a bad decision in his debut here last night against Georgie Nate in the eight round feature of the show at the Coliseum."

There weren't many outside of the referee and judges who thought that the Hoosier was entitled to the victory. Phil, although outwitted by four and one half pounds, made an impressive showing with his clever boxing as well as showing a willingness to step in and trade blows."

If the foregoing report from Chicago doesn't prove that Nate didn't win, despite his four and one half pounds weight advantage Hector was never a pup and the World war was a frameup. Regardless of the decision there's one fact chronicled which will prove that Tobias is worth something to a promoter in Chicago, here or elsewhere.

They're Young, Have Pep
That is the statement that he made an impressive showing with his clever boxing as well as showing a willingness to step in and trade blows."

Westminster's hand of towering Titans served notice upon the Tri-State Conference that they "must be reckoned with this year, when Tuesday night they dashed over to Grove City and asked the hopes of the Crimson Grovers 24 to 22. It was a warm-up battle for the Titans who will entertain Thiel in the Tri-State League on Saturday night.

This "bible outfit this year evidently can't be so sloppy. On Tuesday night they upset that old dope bucket by knocking the ambition out of the Geneva team 2 to 21, down at New Brighton, the home of the Genevians this season. Well that makes things a little different. Maybe the Tri-state is going to have a new contender this year. One can never tell. Anyhow, the Lutherans also served warning that when thinking of basketball teams, just include them in the think.

St. Mary's Quint Defeats Temples In Fast Battle

Uhle, Alexander And Hannon
Star For Saints In Defeat Of Jewish Quintet

The St. Mary's basketball team came into their first victory of the season last night at their floor in St. Mary's auditorium when they blasted the hopes of the Temple Israel team 21 to 13, in a sizzling game. The Saint won the ball game by their brilliant stand in the final half of the game.

The end of the first half found the Temples ahead 8 to 6. The Saints had a hard time making the ball stay in the basket. In the final half it was just the reverse with the Temples having a lot of tough luck while the Saints were ringing "the bell" with Uhle, Alexander, Hannon and Hill leading the way. At the end of the third quarter the St. Mary's boys led 15 to 10.

So close a guarding game did the Saints Uhle and Rohrer play that the Temples only had three field goals. Solomon and Plant were the standouts for the Temples.

The Ellwood City Manhattans will be the attraction at St. Mary's at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Summary:
St. Mary's 21 Temple Israel 13
Hill ..... J. Solomon
Hannon ..... F. Rogovin
Alexander ..... C. Levin
Uhle ..... G. Plant
Rohrer ..... G. H. Levine
Subs—Gennock, Jones, Mancine
M. Levine, Nolte.

Field goals—Hill, Hannon, Alexander 2, Uhle 3, Levine, Plant 2.
Fouls—Saints 7 out of 19, Temples 7 out of 16.

Referee—Fraser.

Specialty Five Defeats Beaver

The Specialty department team of the Shelby Tube Mill of Ellwood City defeated the Beaver Collegians last night 28 to 24 in a game played on the Beaver high floor. The Specialty team led all during the game. The entire Specialty team played heads-up basketball, while for the Collegians the work of Mushenski featured.

Summary:
Specialty Five 28 Beaver Col. 24
Boone ..... F. Scara
Patterson ..... F. Schoenlaub
Gardner ..... C. Marsh
Sumner ..... G. Baker
Latiano ..... G. Mushenski
Subs—Kropp, Hooper.

Field goals—Boone 3, Patterson 2, Gardner 2, Latiano, Pucher, Schoenlaub, Kropp, Marsh, Hooper 3, Baker 2, Mushenski.

Fouls—Specialty 12 out of 17, Collegians 4 out of 13.

Referee—Allison.

Reserves Desire To Schedule Games

The St. Mary's Reserves would like to meet any of the first class basketball teams in the county or city. The Saints can promise a full evening entertainment. For games with the Reserves call Jocky Travers at 4556-J. No first-class team in the immediate vicinity will be turned down if they want a good attraction.

WITH TRI-STATE COLLEGE CAGERS

Well the fox and hound hunt is under way at last. In other words the Tri-State title is the fox and the various colleges will supply the hounds in the form of basketball players. It will be quite a chase, but the fox is always sure of getting caught. Right now it looks like there will be several teams in the "killing."

Westminster's hand of towering Titans served notice upon the Tri-State Conference that they "must be reckoned with this year, when Tuesday night they dashed over to Grove City and asked the hopes of the Crimson Grovers 24 to 22. It was a warm-up battle for the Titans who will entertain Thiel in the Tri-State League on Saturday night.

This "bible outfit this year evidently can't be so sloppy. On Tuesday night they upset that old dope bucket by knocking the ambition out of the Geneva team 2 to 21, down at New Brighton, the home of the Genevians this season. Well that makes things a little different. Maybe the Tri-state is going to have a new contender this year. One can never tell. Anyhow, the Lutherans also served warning that when thinking of basketball teams, just include them in the think.

You can bet that Coach Bob
Thorn was quite putout when his debatating Crimson machine was rendered nil by the Titans. Thorn has another chance to get the Titans, but this assignment will not be so roseate as the game is scheduled for the big New Ellmington floor. And that those Titans don't do away from home they do at home so Mr. Thorn is going to lose a lot of sleep pronto.

Up in Meadville if you happen to mention basketball while chipping sodas at Fiskes, you will probably be told in no uncertain manner that the Alligators are terribly good this year and that they are also awfully hungry. Well, they did beat Youngstown City College, or some other outfit 37 to 17 at Meadville, but they have yet to clash with any body of their own size. Coach Barker always manages to put a first class team on the field, and this year with a veteran combination he should get some place.

Waynesburg snapped out of a losing streak and knocked off the good Juniata team 33 to 31, in a game played at Huntingdon, Pa. The Yellow Jackets looked rather impressive with their two freshmen stars from Monessen High Jfema and Janosik. Maybe Waynesburg is going to prove dangerous this year and maybe they won't, but just wait.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Efforts are under way to match Jack Sharkey and Willie Stribling for the world's heavyweight championship. The title, insofar as New York state is concerned no longer is worn by Max Schmeling.

Despite the New York commis- sion's ruling titles are won and lost in the ring although a champion cannot be praised for not defending his crown. In the present controversy Schmeling won his title on a foul.

Pennsylvania took a whack at
Mickey Walker and declared his middleweight title vacant. He had been given until January 1 to defend his crown. The New York and Pennsylvania bodies are in full accord on such matters.

Falcon Midgets Defeat Unknowns

The Polish Falcon Midgets defeated the Unknowns Five 28 to 15, in a game played at the Falcon court. Kendra, Koszella, and Dudai led the Midgets in scoring, while Zuk and Greaf were the best for the losers.

Stribling-Sharkey Bout Is Sought To Clear Up Situation

By HYPE IGOE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—"Paw" Stribling, boss and pap of Billy Stribling, the Georgia Peach, will be in this man's town today, and he ought to go a long way toward clearing up this heavyweight muddle.

If Pa walks in and says "W. L."—the same being his boy Bill—will fight Jack Sharkey, things might pick up. Schmeling would then have to fight the winner, as a matter of course.

Paw is sitting on a hot stove just now. He's the man of the hour. And his son Bill is linked right on his arm.

The National Boxing Association, with power and recognition in thirty three states, has ordained that Billy Stribling is the challenger and Max Schmeling the champion.

If Billy signs to fight Sharkey, the commission directs, the N. B. A. will rule Bill off. If Bill fights Schmeling, a suspended fighter, the and expects to give New Castle a tough battle. The locals conclude practice for this tilt this afternoon.

New Castle Plays At Mars On Friday

Local Passers Will Try For Second League Victory And Seventh Consecutive Win

The fast New Castle high school basketball team will try for its second victory of Section Three of the W. P. I. A. L. league on Friday night when the local cagers play Mars high at Mars, Pa.

Mars reports having a fair team

New York board will can both Bill and Paw. So you see, poor Paw, is between the Devil and the deep sea, to say nothing of having the frowning shadow of Jack Sharkey in the background.

Not So Sure
Paw doesn't think Bill can whip Sharkey. "I take it that he doesn't for the simple reason that he turned down a legitimate and non-stage money offer of $50,000 for son Billy to fight Sharkey for the Christmas fund in this city."

Bill Carey of the Garden forces is going to Boston tonight to sign Sharkey for the Stribling bout after he, perchance, was had a talk with Paw. If Paw won't sign for the Sharkey fight Carey will go to Boston anyway.

The boxing commission, of course, stands pat on its ultimatum.

Joe Jacobs isn't heart broken over the way things turned out. They panned out just as he predicted and no doubt wanted. Joe, as crazy as a fox, would rather fight Stribling than Sharkey.

and expects to give New Castle a tough battle. The locals conclude practice for this tilt this afternoon.

Four Basketball Games Friday Night

Four games are scheduled in the Church Basketball league for Friday night according to Henry McNicholas, athletic director. The games follow:

First M. E. vs. Highland; Third U. P. vs. Second U. P., Wampum Presbyterians vs. Croton M. E. and the Finnish Lutherans vs. Central Christians.

AN ORDINANCE

Widening East Washington Street from Florence Avenue to a point about 47.16 feet East from the intersection of the center line of Washington Street with Chestnut Street; establishing a grade thereon; providing for the opening thereof at the grade established; appropriating, condemning, and providing for the purchase of land necessary for the said improvement, of which Joseph Panko, et al., and Mrs. Roseanna Burgo and Matilda McGregor are the owners or reputed owners; providing for the payment of the cost and expense of the opening of the said street and of any damages for land taken, injured, or destroyed thereby; assessing the cost and expense of the said improvement upon the abutting properties according to benefits; and providing for the payment of all such damages, costs, and expenses.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Council of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, That for the purpose of widening East Washington Street from Florence Avenue to a point about 47.16 feet East of the intersection of the center line of the said Washington Street with Chestnut Street there is hereby taken, appropriated, and condemned the following described land:

PARCEL No. 1: Beginning at the intersection of the southeast line of Florence Avenue with the southwest line of East Washington Street, running thence by a curve with a radius of three hundred thirty-two and fifty-three hundredths feet in a southeasterly direction to the north-east side of the lands of Joseph Panko, et al.; thence in a northeasterly direction along the line of Burgo approximately eight (8) feet to the old property line on the south side of East Washington Street, thence by the said old property line in a northeasterly direction forty (40) feet to the north-east line of the said Panko, thence by the southeast line of Florence Avenue in a southeasterly direction five (5) feet more or less to the place of beginning; of which land Joseph Panko, et al., are the owners or reputed owners.

PARCEL No. 2: Commencing at a point on the northwest line of land of Burgo at the southeast line of land of Panko about eight (8) feet in a southeasterly direction from the old property line of the southwest line of Florence Avenue, running thence by a curve with a radius of three hundred thirty-two and fifty-three hundredths feet in a southeasterly direction to the north-east line of McGregor, thence by the said line of McGregor in a northeasterly direction approximately fifteen (15) feet; thence in a northeasterly direction about six (6) feet to the angle in the old property line; thence in a northeasterly direction by the old property line on the south side of East Washington Street about thirty-five (35) feet to the line of Burgo; thence by the said line of Burgo in a southeasterly direction about eight (8) feet to the place of beginning; of which land Roseanna Burgo is the owner or reputed owner.

PARCEL No. 3: Beginning at a point on the line between the lands of Roseanna Burgo and Matilda McGregor about fifteen (15) feet in a southeasterly direction from the old property line on the southwest side of East Washington Street and running thence by a curve with a radius of three hundred thirty-two and fifty-three hundredths feet in a southeasterly direction to the point of tangency of the said curve with the southwest line of East Washington Street, as established by an ordinance dated March 26, 1888, which point is opposite a point in the center line of East Washington Street 47.16 feet southwest from the intersection of the center line of East Washington Street and Chestnut Street; thence in a northeasterly direction perpendicular to the said center line of East Washington Street five (5) feet more or less to the old property line on the southwest side of East Washington Street; thence in a northeasterly direction by the said old property line eighty-one (81) feet more or less to Parcel No. 2; thence in a southeasterly direction by the line of Parcel No. 2 about fifteen (15) feet to the place of beginning; of which land Matilda McGregor is the owner or reputed owner.

All of the said Parcels of land are exactly and particularly shown and described on a map which was prepared by the City Engineer and is on file in his office.

SECTION 2. That in case the damages for the taking, appropriation, and condemnation of the above lands have not and cannot be agreed upon, the same shall be assessed by viewers in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 3. That the said East Washington Street from the southeast line of Florence Avenue to a point about 47.16 feet East from the intersection of the center line of Chestnut Street and East Washington Street shall be widened and the southwest line of the said East Washington Street between the said points is hereby established as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a point in the center line of Florence Avenue thirty (30) feet from its intersection with the center line of East Washington Street; and running thence by a curve with a radius of three hundred thirty-two and fifty-three hundredths feet in a southeasterly direction to the point of tangency of the said curve and the southeast line of East Washington Street, as established by an ordinance dated March 26, 1888, which point is opposite a point in the center line of East Washington Street which is 47.16 feet in a southeasterly direction from the intersection of the center lines of Chestnut Street and East Washington Street.

SECTION 4. That the grade of the widened portion of the said street shall conform to the grade heretofore established between the old curb line thereof.

SECTION 5. That the new curb line of the said street shall be twelve (12) feet from the center line of the southeast line of East Washington Street as established herein; and the said street shall be opened to its full width immediately by setting back the curb to the new curb line; and all of the roadway thereby created, including the old curb line, shall be immediately reduced to grade and paved at the cost and expense of the property owners according to the front-foot rule in like manner and with like materials as the street at the present street at that place is paved; and the cost and expense of the grading and paving of the said street is hereby assessed against and levied upon the abutting property owners according to the front-foot rule.

SECTION 6. All of the cost and expense of the widening, opening, grading, and paving of the said street and for the payment of the damages for land taken, injured or destroyed thereby shall be paid for out of the fund on hand in the City of New Castle, Pa. In witness whereof, I have set my hand and affixed the seal of the city, this 8th day of January, 1931.

CORDELIA ZEIGLER JONES, City Clerk.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Narrow Price Range
In Early Stocks Trading

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—All sections of the stock market moved in an extremely narrow price range in the early trading today. The Industrials and Utilities started the day with slightly lower prices, rallied near the end of the first hour, and dropped back to their original levels. Speculative interest was lacking, and the bears were ready to sprinkle the market with liberal selling orders.

Copper stocks were unsettled by reports that second-hand dealers were offering the Red Metal at 10 1/2 cents a pound, a quarter-cent concession from the posted prices. Anaconda Copper dropped under 32 for a loss of nearly 2 points and reactions of a point or so were recorded for other Copper shares.

United States Steel was also freely sold around yesterday's closing prices and declined in the second hour to 142 1/2. The Amusement stocks and the Specialties were blocked by profit taking and professional selling, but retained most of yesterday's advance. Rails and Motors were dull and quiet with narrow price changes.

The Grain and Cotton markets dropped off to slightly lower levels under the influence of the foreign cables, which showed moderate reactions in Liverpool. Some price cutting was reported in gasoline, though heads of the Petroleum industry reported good progress in holding down the Refinery runs of gasoline. Call money renewed at 1 1/2 per cent.

The court held against Joshiah. The judges reasoned thus: If words spoken by a judge during the course of his duty were subject to action for slander, no judge would be able to freely administer justice.

Lita Grey Chaplin And Carpentier Are Victims Of Robbers

Four New York Bandits Holdup Famous Couple And Kidnap Them In Auto

Mrs. Chaplin Estimates Loss In Jewelry To Be $25,000—Sobs Out Story

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—"I don't know, I tell you! I don't know! There were four of them. They said they'd put me on the spot," if I talked. I don't want to sign a complaint. Twenty-five thousand dollars—what's that? My life is worth more to me than that!"
Thus, hysterical, Lita Grey Chaplin, divorced wife of Charlie Chaplin, world-famous picture star, met police at the door of her hotel suite here early today after being held up, kidnapped in her own town car, and robbed of jewelry valued at $25,000. Kidnaped with her was Georges Carpentier, one-time contender for the world's heavyweight championship.

In Plain Sight.
The kidnaping took place in sight of nearly a hundred men, women and boys who had gathered to see Mrs. Chaplin and Carpentier leave the theatre, where Mrs. Chaplin has been appearing in vaudeville for the past week.

Mrs. Chaplin and Carpentier emerged from the stage door of the theatre, arm in arm. Mrs. Chaplin's town car, was waiting at the curb, with Albert Frank, the chauffeur, at the wheel.

Carpentier handed Mrs. Chaplin into the tonneau of the machine, and then followed her, seating himself beside her. As he did so, the four bandits appeared suddenly, one at each door of the car, front and rear.

The bandits drove the car about a mile distant and after robbing Mrs. Chaplin, forced the actress, her chauffeur and Carpentier out of the machine near a park, and drove away.

The Chaplin car was found about 4:30 a. m. by police about three blocks from where Mrs. Chaplin, Carpentier and the chauffeur were left. There was no damage and the keys were in the lock.

Sobs Out Story.
It was only with the greatest difficulty that the police were able to get Mrs. Chaplin to relate the details of the robbery, and even then she continued to insist that she could not possibly describe the robbers.

"They warned me! They warned me! Do you think I want to get 'put on the spot'?" She said several times.

Urged that the jewelry represented a considerable financial loss, she replied that "for the most part" it was insured with a Seattle Insurance agency.

She said she and Carpentier were rehearsing a play or vaudeville skit, it was not made plain just which, in which they both plan to appear sometime in the future.

Carpentier himself, when it was suggested that he might have succeeded in overdrawing his captors by reason of his reputation as a fighter, shook his head.

Carpentier Helpless.
"Not with a couple of guns pointed at his stomach," one of the detectives handling the case declared. Carpentier said nothing.

Whether Carpentier was robbed was not made clear. First it was reported $30 was taken from him and that this was returned. Later police said they understood no effort was made to rob Carpentier.

"First," Mrs. Chaplin finally told the police, "they wanted money. I had only $15. They took that."

"Is that all you've got?" one of them asked her.

"I was too frightened to reply."

"He said, 'well, then come across with the jewelry.'"

"I was wearing two diamond bracelets, a diamond lavalliere, a diamond pin, and, er, well, another piece of jewelry. Its value, in all, I should say, was around $25,000."

She was pressed for a description of the "other piece of jewelry," but she refused to be explicit concerning it.

"Was it a ring, a diamond ring, perhaps?" she was asked.

"She ignored the question."

Hurt Her Wrist.
"The one man, he appeared to be the leader," she said, continuing her story, "told me to hand the things to him. I was so frightened, I was crying. I guess, and, and I just couldn't."

"He reached over and grabbed them. And he hurt my wrist."

"When we got to the Park, there are apartment houses on one side of the road and the Park on the other, they ordered us out of the car."

"By that time, I was, well gone all to pieces, I guess. I know I was hysterical, and when I tried to get out of the machine, my legs just wouldn't work."

"Mr. Carpentier got out, and one of the bandits got out with him, and between them they got me out of the car into the street."

"Then the bandit got back in, and they all drove away in my car."

West Virginia Officers May Be Here Late Today

To Probe Story Of Irene And Dague On West Virginia Robbery

Sometime this afternoon an investigator is expected from Moundsville, West Virginia to look into the confession of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague, in which they admit the robbery of the filling station of Jack Cotts in September 1929. If the investigator is convinced of the truth of the confession it is possible that Frank Howell, now serving a long term in the West Virginia state penitentiary for the crime, may be released.

Sometime ago Irene and Dague confessed that they, not Howell had robbed Cotts' station and in their confession gave a minute description of what had happened.

Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, counsel for Irene and Dague sent a copy of the confession to the governor of West Virginia and the investigator is expected in today to check it up.

Nearly 600 Dog Tags Sold Today

A total of 564 dog licenses for 1931 had been secured by owners from all over the country. County Treasurer Adda M. Smiley reported at noon. The time period extends until January 15.

The grand total for dog license sales in 1930 amounted to 6,433 tags.

The three leading heavyweight fighters are much like Dempsey in one respect. They are all heavy.

Cut This Out.

Old English Preparation For Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this paragraph, and hand it to them, and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer from total deafness. We believe that catarrh, catarrhal deafness, head noises, etc., are caused by constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint, and seldom, if ever give permanent relief. This being so, much time has been spent in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic, that should quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated, is given below in an understandable form, so that any one can use it in their own home at little expense.

Secure from New Castle Drug Co., Eber's or your druggist one ounce of Parnint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing should rapidly return as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucous dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are never overcome by this efficacious treatment. If nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, there is no wonder many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh should give this mixture a trial.

Dr. J. Alvin Orr Will Speak Here

Noted Divine Of Pittsburgh Will Be Heard In Third United Presbyterian Church

DR. J. ALVIN ORR

The Third United Presbyterian church, of which Rev. S. B. Copeland is pastor, has counted itself most fortunate this year in securing Dr. J. Alvin Orr of Pittsburgh as their guest preacher for the first week of their evangelistic meetings which begin January 11.

Dr. Orr, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of the North Side, Pittsburgh, is one of the outstanding divines of the country and is well known for his work of evangelistic nature as well as reform work and where questions of law and order come up Dr. Orr is secured as a speaker, if he has the time available.

Upon Dr. Orr's last appearance in the Third United Presbyterian church, about five years ago, the church was not large enough to hold the congregation that wished to hear him and it was anticipated that there will be as many wish to hear him upon this appearance.

This week Dr. Orr is speaking in Columbus, Ohio, before the protestant churches of that city.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Once more the columns of 98 per cent of the newspapers of this land of ours are cluttered up with various and sundry accounts of the current battle over the heavyweight championship, now being held by one Schmeling (I wonder if that's spelled right) as the result of a foul some months ago in a New York ring.

Der Maxie as he has playfully been dubbed has sent up a squawk that has carried clear across the Atlantic, to the effect that he doesn't want to fight in New York because he will get a square deal in Chicago. Wipe off the smile. It was in New York that he won the title on a foul after losing every round to Sharkey, it was New York that made him the champion, and after getting the title on a platter from the New York boxing commission it seems odd that he would be so sensitive now about the fair dealing of Muldoon and Farley.

And while the subject of boxing is on the fire, may we suggest that on Monday evening, January 19th, the Castle Bowl opens up with a show for the benefit of the Unemployment Fund. It doesn't need any smoking, any show that has Willie Davies and Phil Tobias in there against each other, but in case you have forgotten, the tickets are on sale now.

It seems there have been a few slight errors in this column lately, which isn't at all surprising. And each one of them had been checked and filed away by the lexicographer, Homer C. Drake. Yesterday he took time out long enough to explain what it was all about and by the time he got through we were wondering if the column might ever amount to anything.

NOTES OF TROOP "F" 103RD CAVALRY OF NEW CASTLE

The commander announces that Lieut. Mitchell is considerably better and making rapid improvement from his recent illness. This news will be gratefully received by all members.

Sergt. Seyffert took part in a volleyball game at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening, playing with a group of city business men.

The January issue of "The Pennsylvania Guardsman" received today at the armory contains a story about the troop and the progress made toward obtaining the armory building. The next issue will contain two pictures of troop activities.

A letter was received today by the commander from Maj. Stackpole, the publisher of "The Pennsylvania Guardsman." The Major commends publicity received by the troop in The News.

The commander has received authority to hold a summary court for all violators of military law.

Correct this sentence: "I'm not infallible myself," said the man, "So I never think another dumb just because he doesn't agree with me."

Fleming Is In Allegheny Jail

Grove City Youth Taken To Pittsburgh To Answer For Robberies

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—Donald Fleming, 19, of Grove City, alleged to be one of two youthful bandits who attempted to rob the Bakers-town postoffice, was held in Allegheny county jail today following the capture of himself and a companion, Merle Teare, 16, also of Grove City, at Elmo, Clarion county, yesterday.

Teare is in the hospital of the Franklin jail and will be returned here, officials said, when he recovers from shotgun wounds inflicted by Carl Heckert, postmaster and general store proprietor, who routed the bandits early Tuesday.

Both youths were captured when they attempted to steal gasoline for their stolen automobile in Elmo, police said.

The car was said to have been stolen in Butler. Fleming was caught by the proprietor of the gasoline station but Teare made a break for liberty and was captured a short time later when the machine he was driving skidded into a ditch.

Detectives reported that Fleming admitted the postoffice robbery of the Bakers-town postoffice but denied complicity in other robberies about which he was questioned.

Pinchot Denies Reconsidering Samuel L. Lewis

Governor Pinchot Denies That He Will Reconsider Lewis As Highway Head

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 8.—Governor-elect Gifford Pinchot today emphatically denied that he had any idea of reconsidering his selection of Samuel L. Lewis, of York, as secretary of highways in his cabinet when he takes over the reins of Pennsylvania government Jan. 20.

Reports of reconsideration, it was said, have been printed in Western newspapers.

The governor-elect laughed heartily when asked if there were any foundations for the reports.

"Do you know of any appointment I made that I did not go through with?" he asked.

Girl Fliers Are Near 100 Hours

Two California Maidens Have Been Up In Plane For Over 85 Hours

(International News Service)
IMPERIAL AIRPORT, EL CENTRO, Cal., Jan. 8.—After fleeing from inclement weather in the vicinity of Los Angeles, the two girl endurance fliers, Bobby Trout and Edna May Cooper, were circling over the airport here early today. They had been aloft for 85 hours at 3:30 a. m. (Pacific standard time).

The former endurance record for women was 42 hours and 16 minutes.

Former Resident Dies In California

Word has been received in New Castle of the death of Mrs. Cora May Vogan, who was a resident of this city a number of years ago.

Mrs. Vogan, a resident of Pasadena for twenty-three years, passed away Saturday, January 3 at her residence, 99 North Greenwood avenue, after an illness of sixteen years.

Mrs. Vogan is survived by her husband, Al Vogan of Pasadena; her mother, Mrs. Amanda Conn of Pasadena, and three brothers, Edwin O. Bowden of Upland, Cal., Andrew M. Bowden and James W. Bowden, both of Los Angeles.

Funeral services were held Monday, January 5, at 3 p. m., from the Orange Grove Chapel of the C. Hal Reynolds & John W. Eberle Mortuary, 825 East Orange Grove avenue, near Lake. Burial followed in Mountain View.
